JFK Assassination Probe Causes Unstoppable Stir

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Big Jim Garrison, the New Orleans district attorney, has been riding the tiger for a week and looks like he's beginning to enjoy it. The Chinese proverb had it that he who rides the tiger can never dismount—lest it turn and devour him.

The Kennedy assassination case is Garrison's tiger. He shows no fear of it. Once he could have dismounted gracefully. It would not be easy now.

Too many times, Garrison has repeated that he will prove that a conspiracy here led to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and that he will convict those involved.

The score thus far: DEAD. David W. Ferrie, 49, a free-lance pilot accused of taking part in a plot. Suicide, said Garrison. Natural death, said Coroner Nicholas Chetta, due to massive brain hemorrhage, possibly brought on by stress.

PROVEN. To many the world over the Kennedy case is as alive today as it ever was, despite the exhaustive and official Warren Commission report, which said Lee Harvey Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, shot the president and there was no credible evidence that others were involved.

UNREVEALED. Almost everything in Garrison's hand. Garrison's probe remains a riddle wrapped in an enigma, with the controversial 6-foot-6 district attorney grinning at some of the uproar he had caused.

The 45-year-old prosecutor, who packs a pistol under his coat, said he realized that the world was "chomping at the bit" to see what comes of his probe. But arrests, he repeated, may not come for months.

Emphasizing the point by exaggeration, he added, "it might be 30 years."

Skeptics are many. But few with official standings, wary of possible backfire, care to be quoted.

One of the few was Texas Gov. John Connally, who said he personally doubts that "anything new or revealing" will come of the New Orleans probe—particularly since many of those known to have been questioned by Garrison already had been put through the wringer by the FBI back in 1963.

Among those extensively questioned in 1963 was Ferrie. When the new investigation started, he was a sick and emaciated man, living on "coffee, cigarettes and jello."

In 1963 an informant had linked him with Oswald. Also, Ferrie had made an automobile trip to Texas the day of the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

"I had no idea this would turn out to be a stupid move," he said shortly before his death.

Solons Urge Equaling Red Missile Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure is building in Congress for the United States to deploy an antiballistic missile (ABM) system to counter one the Russians reportedly are installing.

Most congressional leaders favor President Johnson's search for a U.S.-Russian agreement not to go further with such defense systems, which would become fantastically expensive. But several key leaders doubt that a safe agreement could be reached.

If the talks fail, congressional pressure for setting up an American antimissile defense probably will become overwhelming.

And whatever the negotiation results, several leaders predict Congress will authorize more money than the $377 million Johnson has asked as standby funds in case a decision is made to begin installing an ABM system.

Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, one of a series of leaders interviewed, said "I don't think the President's negotiations are going to have any effect on Congress."

The Michigan Republican predicted Congress will want to go ahead with deployment in any case.

Records in Washington show that the informant later admitted that his story that Ferrie was to be the getaway pilot for the assassin was "a figment of his imagination."

Ferrie ran a small flying service here.

After being requested by Garrison last November, Ferrie was sure he would be arrested. He pestered newsmen for the latest details. He frequently telephoned the district attorney's office in an effort to see where he stood. He started an inept investigation of his own which he said would prove his innocence. He was under daily surveillance.

Ferrie's death was a shock. He was found in bed Wednesday morning at his messy, incredibly cluttered apartment, already rigid in rigor mortis.

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—One person was killed and six were injured Saturday in a two-car collision on a city street in Hannibal.

Police said a car driver, Raymond Quisenberry, 19, died in the crash. A passenger in his car, Judy Norvel, was hurt seriously.

Investigation continued, he said, and the only way "people involved can get away from us is to kill themselves."

Revisions in the term of Mao leadership uses for Soviet Communists who are accused of revising the original ideas of Marx and Lenin on how to spread Communism around the world.

NCNA said the fundamental task of Mao's revolutionary movement "is to oppose revisionism, prevent the rise of revisionism, thoroughly uproot revisionism, thoroughly smash the social basis for counterrevolutionary revisionism, liquidate its ideological influence, foster Mao Tse-tung's thought on a grand scale, and see to it that Mao Tse-tung's thought takes deep root among the people."

At the same time, it added, the movement is also the "tempering and training a large number of staunch successors to the proletarian revolutionary cause who are armed with Mao Tse-tung's thought."

It said Mao's cultural revolution was "by no means a 'revolution of dismissing people from office.'"

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., praised Michigan Gov. George Romney Saturday as a good likely Republican presidential candidate in 1968.

Percy, who himself has been mentioned as a possible contender for the nomination next year, told newsmen flatly that he is "not a candidate and will not become a candidate."

Percy, in Detroit to address the Michigan Republican convention, said he also saw no possibility of being drafted for the nomination.

"I waited for a draft in 1964," he said jokingly, "and I did not feel the slightest breeze."

The Illinois senator praised Romney for his recent tour of the western United States, including Alaska, and observed that a potential candidate has to seek the nomination.

He remarked that it was "most unprecedented" to have a man pushed so early for the nomination.

Romney sat beside Percy at the crowded news conference.

The Michigan governor had high praise for Percy as a "man who has a good sense of timing in both his private and public life."

Romney described Percy as an "opportunistic" but quickly explained he was using the word in the sense that Percy realizes the right time to act.

Asked if he considers himself to be the same kind of an opportunist, Romney replied, "Yes."

Romney likened his possible candidacy to marriage.

"Candidates are like marriage—only one person can agree to be married and only one person can announce his candidacy."

"I did indicate out in Phoenix that I've got a red hot romance going on," he added.

Recapture 'Boston Strangler'

Marines Ambush Enemy Patrol

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Marines ambushed a 12-man Communist patrol Saturday and killed 10 and captured the other two, American headquarters reported Sunday.

The Marines spotted the enemy patrol on a trail in Thua Thien Province in the northern part of the country, headquarters said.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, no fresh contacts were reported in Operation Junction City, the big U.S. offensive in War Zone C 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. infantry involved in the massive drive accounted for 30 of the 106 Communists reported killed 8 by American troops across the country Sunday.

While guerrillas evidently sought to evade the horseshoe-shaped trap that American brigades established Wednesday around 250 square miles of frontier territory northwest of Saigon, others struck with small arms, automatic weapons and grenades at a company of about 175 men of the 4th Infantry Division on Operation Sam Houston in the central highlands.

Air strikes, artillery and a reinforcing company helped to batter the Viet Cong assault force, of undetermined size. A spokesman said the Americans, while suffering light casualties, killed 45 of the enemy.

There was action too in the north, where use of long-range

American 175mm guns to shell targets in North Vietnam drew denunciations from Hanoi and other quarters of the Communist bloc. B52 jets pounded a Communist base camp and infiltration route just south of the border Demilitarized Zone. U.S. Marines patrolling the northern provinces listed 31 of the enemy killed in scattered skirmishes.

In Saigon, about 2,500 members of a Vietnamese Roman Catholic organization called the Greater Unity Force Bloc demonstrated in an overnight vigil against "the false peace clique who are instruments of the bloodthirsty Communists." Conversely, they were for "Pope Paul's legitimate peace moves."

Authorized by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government to ignore curfew hours, they paraded and burned effigies of 10 world figures they accused of working for a false peace.

Red Guards Ordered To Curb Activities

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's Red Guards got another order Saturday to cool off their efforts in rooting out opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

At the same time, Japanese dispatches reported Peking's military governors had ordered eight national organizations disbanded as counter-revolutionary.

These developments came amid indications that Mao's purge of followers of President Liu Shao-chi had set back spring planting. A broadcast from Kweichow province said peasants had raided seed warehouses, sold the stock and split the profits. The broadcast said army units were called in to guard the warehouses and to protect Maoists from attacks.

The orders for the Red Guards — militant pro-Mao youths — were carried in the official Peking People's Daily and the New China News Agency (NCNA.) Several other times over the past six months the Mao leadership had urged the Red Guards to be less zealous in helping push Mao's purge.

A few weeks ago, Peking ordered many Red Guards back to school and cut off their free food supplies. Since then there have been reports of harsh Red Guard activities. But the NCNA dispatch said the Red Guards were told it was a mistake to interpret the ultimate aim of Mao's purge as a campaign "merely to pick out a number of counter-revolutionary revisionists."

Revisionism is the term of Mao leadership uses for Soviet Communists who are accused of revising the original ideas of Marx and Lenin on how to spread Communism around the world.

Low Readings Set Throughout South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A biting blast of arctic air sent temperature records tumbling in 16 states from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico Saturday. Dixie shivered in the icy pinch.

New lows for Feb. 25 were set in communities in North Carolina, Georgia, West Virginia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. Louisville, Ky., recorded an even zero to equal a record set 67 years ago.

Although the cold front swept Florida, no new lows were set.

Miami posted a chilly 45 degrees, while Key West recorded 63 degrees.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour swept the North Carolina coast and moved inland as far as Raleigh. Near Ware Shoals, S.C., four-year-old Bobby Hastings died Saturday after wandering away from his home and spending the night in subfreezing temperatures without a coat or jacket. Temperatures in the wooded area where the boy was found dipped to 8 above zero during the night.

The cold air in the South and Southeast was accompanied by gusty winds and some light snow flurries. Near the Canadian border, Hibbing, Minn., recorded 35 below zero and Bemidji, Minn., was only one degree warmer at 34 below.

Minneapolis had a 23 below reading — record for the date. The previous mark was set in 1950 — 17 below zero.

Other record minimums for Feb. 25 included: Raleigh, N.C. 9 above; Huntington, W.V. -1; Milwaukee, Wis. -7; Rockford, Ill. -10; Wilmington, N.C. 18; Baton Rouge, La., 26; Augusta, Ga., 14; Fort Smith, Ark., 12; Macon, Ga., 15; St. Louis, Mo., 1 above; Evansville, Ind., -3; Athens, Ga., 10; Jackson, Miss., 20; La Crosse, Wis., -21; Birmingham, Ala., 12; Charleston, S.C. 19; Atlanta, Ga., 9; Peoria, Ill., -9; Baltimore, Md., 10; and Nashville, Tenn., 10.

Temperatures were freezing in northern Florida but a brisk north wind kept damaging frost away and there was no damage to citrus or vegetable crops.

SAIGON (AP) — Captured enemy documents indicate a new Viet Cong effort to launch sabotage and terrorist attacks on Saigon because of recent failures of main-line units to isolate the South Vietnamese capital, U.S. intelligence sources said Saturday.

The aim would be to terrorize the Saigonese, drive prices up, foment unrest and churn out propaganda designed to depict Americans as being responsible for the misery, the informants said.

They reported Viet Cong main-line forces had been trying since fall to cut Saigon off but massive allied operations, such as the one called Cedar Falls north of the capital last month, had scattered their units.

Because of the failure of main-force units, sabotage and terrorist attacks are likely to be stepped up, the sources said. They described many recent attacks as "unprofessional" and poorly executed in contrast to those of a year ago.

Satchel bombs are sometimes found unexploded due to mechanical failure. An explosive device detonated prematurely in a Saigon street Feb. 16, killing the Viet Cong carrying it.

Increased vigilance has cut down some sabotage. Alert sentries have shot men attempting to float explosives toward river bridges.

A Communist mortar crew removed the sheet metal roofing from a shabby house in downtown Saigon and lobbed shells at Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters Feb. 13. They missed, but nine Vietnamese soldiers were killed nearby.

Communist strikes on shipping in the twisting channel between Saigon and the South China Sea 40 miles away have caused extensive damage.

DeSalvo Surrenders Without Resistance

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Albert DeSalvo, who claims to be the notorious "Boston Strangler," surrendered meekly Saturday to two employees of a uniform store in West Lynn.

Thus one of the largest manhunts in northeastern United States history came to an end 37 hours after DeSalvo, 35, and two other inmates slipped away from Bridgewater State Hospital.

A judge ordered DeSalvo taken to Walpole State Prison. DeSalvo, who claims to have strangled 13 Massachusetts women in their homes between June 1962 and January 1964, has never been held at the maximum security institution.

"DeSalvo seemed to know we recognized him and asked if we could make him some coffee," James Trelogan, 32, sales manager of the store, said.

"I took him into the back room. But before I did, I frisked him," Trelogan said. "He didn't resist. He told me, 'I'm not carrying anything.'"

Trelogan and a salesman, Fred Waldron, recognized DeSalvo when the escapee entered the store shortly after 2 P.M. and asked if he could use the telephone.

"It's an emergency," DeSalvo was quoted as saying. "I've got to call F. Lee."

This apparently was a reference to F. Lee Bailey, DeSalvo's attorney. An associate of Bailey in Boston, 15 miles south of Lynn, later told newsmen he had received a call from DeSalvo and was making arrangements to meet him when officers took the escapee into custody.

Trelogan said he telephoned police and two squad cars answered his call. DeSalvo was taken to police headquarters, where he was held briefly before being taken to nearby Cambridge for a hearing in Middlesex Superior Court.

When apprehended, the elusive DeSalvo was wearing a Navy uniform and a rumpled Navy pea jacket. He had changed from the grey denim clothes worn at the time of his escape from the hospital in the predawn hours Friday. He was pale and haggard and told officers he was tired.

The escape from Bridgewater, 40 miles south of Lynn, came on the heels of a snowstorm that dumped 6 to 8 inches of snow in the area. DeSalvo and his accomplices left the hospital on foot.

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. warships have begun shelling North Vietnamese rail yards, ammunition storage areas and other links in the supply trail leading toward South Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced Sunday.

The announcement said the naval gunfire was directed at "primary targets supporting the infiltration of men and equipment into the South."

Shamie, unsuccessful candidate for mayor in 1965, went ahead with his plans and held his first clinic last week. It was conducted by representatives of the National Rifle Association.

Pomlowski said he was one of more than 200 grocers who attended. Zachman did not attend.

"It was very encouraging," Pomlowski said.

He bought a 38-caliber short-barreled Smith & Wesson revolver after his first attempted holdup three years ago. Sometimes, Pomlowski said, he wore it at his side in a holster.

"After the meeting I decided to wear it at all times," he said. At about 6:30 P.M. Thursday, Pomlowski said, a man came into his store holding a black scarf over his face with one hand and brandishing an automatic in the other.

He told Pomlowski to toss his wallet across the counter. After Pomlowski obeyed, the man turned to the cashier, Deborah Brooks, 17, and ordered her to take the money out of the cash register and put it in a bag.

"Then he swore and said 'come to the front of the store,'" Pomlowski recalled.

(Turn To Page Eleven)

One of the arresting officers, Robert Clounan, said they found DeSalvo in the back room of the store "leaning against a water cooler. He said he wanted to give himself up and to contact state police."

"We put handcuffs on him right away. He wasn't armed and he was very docile. He didn't give us any trouble."

An unruly crowd of 2,000 people jammed into the narrow street outside police headquarters as word of DeSalvo's arrest spread through the area.

"Kill him," were the shouts of some in the crowd. The gathering broke up after DeSalvo was taken from the station to court.

Detectives formed a tight ring around the prisoner and pushed through the crowd to put him in a police car for the trip to Cambridge. DeSalvo was handcuffed. He smiled and winked at several newsmen who he recognized from a recent trial.

Claim NSA Never Tied Down CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Twelve former presidents of the National Student Association asserted Saturday that the subsidy the organization received secretly from the Central Intelligence Agency did not impair its independence in matters of principle.

The 12 said in a joint statement that each of them was fully informed, after being elected to office, that the CIA was supplying funds for NSA's overseas programs.

The statement appeared over the names of the men who headed NSA in 1952 and the years 1954-64.

After outlining the purposes and scope of the association's overseas activities, the 12 young men said:

"Without substantial funds, NSA's international program would have been immobilized. Yet each of us concluded that, without question, we would have chosen immobilization if the only funds available were conditioned on impairment of the independence of any of NSA's principles or programs."

"And so the question became whether CIA funds entailed any such conditions. We state categorically that they did not."

"Each of us after being elected to office was fully informed about the CIA relationship. Allegations that we were 'trapped' or 'duped' are arrant nonsense."

"While we constantly searched for alternative sources of funds, this relationship was the only realistic and responsible alternative available to us at that time. Each of us authorized its continuation subject to the controls and safeguards which we deemed necessary to insure the complete independence and integrity of NSA."

Romney, West Satisfied

Possible GOP '68 Candidate Well Received

LANSING, Mich. (AP) —

Scenically and politically, George W. Romney likes what he saw of the West — and he's pretty sure the West's Republicans like what they saw of him, too.

From Alaska to Arizona, 8,318 miles, the governor of Michigan put on what can only be regarded as the kickoff of a drive for the presidency in 1968.

And there was complete satisfaction in his own assessment of the seven-day trip that ended early Friday.

"The whole effort has been very rewarding," Romney said. Although he still maintains he's not really running, only looking, Romney moved like a man who knows why and where he is going.

He met with five GOP governors, talked with scores of party leaders, held six news conferences and made 18 speeches, of which maybe 10 could be considered major efforts.

In general, the crowd reaction was good, and, although a thousand cheers may not add up to a single delegate vote in convention, well, a start has to be made somewhere.

Wherever Romney went, he kept pecking away at Lyndon Johnson, especially on the way the President is handling the Vietnam conflict.

"It has been clumsy, ill-timed and poorly coordinated," Romney said in Anchorage, Alaska, at his first full-scale news conference of the trip. And although reporters prodded him on Viet Nam the rest of the trip, they never got him to spell out where he believes the administration is wrong or to say what he would change if he were president.

The organization being set up in Lansing to push Romney steadily toward the presidency is impressive.

Upstairs, at 404 E. Michigan, a political factory called Romney Associates, is hard at work.

In the roomy premises—four handy city blocks, or within easy sprinting distance, from the governor's office in the Capitol — are new rugs, a conference room and 14 full-time employees plus three more who flit in and out mysteriously.

Nor does the big league operation end with Romney Associates.

Leonard Hall, former Republican National Committee chairman, will soon open an office in Washington to keep tabs on delegates and to raise the bundles of money needed for a major drive like this.

A visitor to Romney Associates remarked he was surprised to see things moving so rapidly at this early stage. (It's still 16 months before the national conventions.)

"I don't think anyone has been in Romney's position at this stage," said John Byington, 29, a campaign man/ger in Romney's triumphant re-election bid last November.

This reporter traveled with seven potential candidates that year, and mostly they slipped through the land, to their dismay, as silently as fugitives. Anyone who had an organizational setup, such as John F. Kennedy, never advertised it.

Partly by accident, partly by design, George Romney has become the No. 1 phenomenon in U.S. politics.

At a time when Republicans hope to wrest the White House from Johnson, Romney's friends point to these attractions: governor of a big state—three-time winner, each time by a larger margin—handsomely gray at 59—forceful—and more important, they insist, who can beat him?

For they argue that Richard M. Nixon is showworn after losing the presidency in 1960 and the California governorship in 1962, and that Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California are too new on their jobs to start asking for promotion.

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—One person was killed and six were injured Saturday in a two-car collision on a city street in Hannibal.

Police said a car driver, Raymond Quisenberry, 19, died in the crash. A passenger in his car, Judy Norvel, was hurt seriously.

FFA Chapter Elects Officers, Presents Awards

Members of the FFA entertained their parents at the annual "Parent and Son" banquet held this week at Jonathan Turner junior high school.

Eight new officers were elected, seven honorary members were honored, and awards were handed out.

Awards went to Jim Fox, chapter Star Farmer, who also received awards for livestock farming, crop farming, and swine production; Ed Becker, beef production; Bob Christen, small grain production and livestock specialty; Jim Clayton, soybean production; Bob Armstrong, corn production; John Cox, home beautification, and scholarship award.

Honorary chapter farmers honored were: J. A. Mann, Howard Becker, Loren Burrus, Norman Kleinschmidt, James Fox, Jack McNeely, and James McKean.

Lawrence Crawford, of Crawford Lumber Company, presented a $50 bond from the company to Jim Fox.

William Fortschneider, high school ag instructor, made the presentation of awards, and girls of the home economics class, Mrs. Jean Chapman, Mrs. Audra Taylor assisted at the banquet.

ATTEND AREA IAA INSTITUTE

On February 20 five directors of the Morgan County Farm Bureau attended the area directors institute in Springfield sponsored by the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Those attending from Morgan County were Cary Strang, president, Clyde York, Paul S. Black, Lloyd E. Smith, Leroy Sweet and John Chambers, executive secretary. The institute gave information and discussed four major areas; the responsibilities and liabilities of directors, accounting and budgeting procedures for Farm Bureau, relationships with affiliated companies, and committee structure and activation.

The meeting was topped off with an inspiring speech by Rev. Bennett from Galesburg who reminded those present that we need to work very hard to preserve our freedoms and the American way of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Devlin of Jacksonville have purchased the Moore home in Bluffs and expect to move in the near future. Michael Moore has moved to Jacksonville where he is employed by Harris-Wolfe Inc. Publishers.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

DAIRY SITUATION HAS IMPROVED

The dairy situation has improved considerably in the past few years: Surplus production has been practically eliminated; government spending for price support has almost stopped; prices received by farmers have gone up 15 to 20 percent in two years; and milk production has stabilized.

This is the best combination of conditions—for dairymen, consumers, and taxpayers—that has existed for several years. We hope it will last, but doubt that it will. The dairy situation is always changing.

Since World War II, the dairy industry has developed a cyclical pattern. First, prices are raised. Then production is increased while sales are slow. Surplus stocks accumulate, and disposal programs become too costly for the public taste. After that, prices are reduced. Production and sales come into near balance. Then, a new cycle is begun by raising prices once more.

Seven Year Picture

Developments since 1959 show the pattern clearly. In that year, farmers produced 122 billion pounds of milk. Consumers bought 97 percent of the available supply of dairy products.

The government had to buy only 3 percent to support prices. Then, the price-support level was raised—from $3.06 a hundred pounds to $3.40. Farmers boosted their sales of milk 6 percent in three years, but consumers did not increase their purchases. In one year (the 1961-62 marketing year), Uncle Sam had to buy dairy products equivalent to about 10 percent of all milk marketed, in order to support prices. In fiscal year 1962, the cost of the price-support surplus-disposal program totaled nearly $700 million.

In 1962, the support level was cut back to $3.11. This reduction helped to equalize production and sales during the next four years. Sales of dairy products increased. Milk production dropped from 126 billion pounds in 1962, to 125 billion in 1963, but moved back up to 127 billion in 1964. However, by 1964, many dairymen had decided to quit the business.

Milk production dipped to 125 billion pounds in 1965, and to 121½ billion in 1966. Consumers bought practically the whole output of dairy products; the surplus disappeared; and government spending for price support dropped to near zero.

Surplus Ahead

In 1966, a new cycle was started. The price-support level was raised to $4.00. Market prices were even higher—around $4.25 in recent months. The decrease in milk production has stopped. Output in November and December was the same as a year earlier. If history repeats itself, we will be having surplus problems again in a year or two.

Only about 47 percent of the milk that farmers produced in 1966 was purchased by consumers as milk and cream. In addition, 20 percent was used for butter, 14 percent for cheese, 9 percent for ice cream and other frozen dairy products, and 6 percent for other manufactured dairy items. The remaining 5 percent of the milk was used on the farms, where it was produced.

Butter meets the stiffest competition. It sells for 80 to 90 cents a pound, compared to about 30 cents for margarine. The average consumption of butter dropped from 6.8 pounds per person in 1963, to 5.8 pounds in 1966. But the consumption of margarine climbed from 9.6 pounds (per person) to 10.7 pounds.

Cream also meets strong competition from vegetable oils for use in the manufacture of frozen dairy desserts and coffee cream substitutes.

SPORTSMEN PLAN TO MOVE QUAIL PENS TO CLUB

The Jacksonville Sportsmen's Club held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the club grounds with President Herman Horner presiding.

The question of moving the quail pens back to the club grounds from the present location at the Bill Swain farm was discussed.

Raising quail is one of the club's principal projects and several members felt it would create more interest if the quail were raised and cared for at the club grounds.

The quail committee will make a report at the next regular meeting. The March meeting was designated as dues paying night with a free meal for everyone.

Forty-eight members enjoyed a spaghetti and meatball dinner Tuesday evening followed by a movie, "Missouri Snakes" shown afterward.

Marguerite Kirmse, American artist, won international fame for her etchings of dogs.

200 At Mt. Sterling Blue And Gold Banquet

MT. STERLING — Two hundred attended the annual Blue and Gold banquet for Cub Scouts held Feb. 22nd at the Mt. Sterling Legion Home. The invocation was given by Raymond Bullard.

Following the dinner roll was called and the Honor Flag ceremony was conducted by Den 4. New Webelos leaders, Vic Kassing, Louis Scheer and George Northrup, were introduced. It has been some years since a Webelos Troop was organized in Mt. Sterling.

Receiving awards were: Den 1, bobcat badges, Victor Mitry, Stephen Clark and Murray Wortman; wolf badges, Kevin Dixon, Lewis Hammer and Scott Rigg.

Den 2, lion badges, Steve Hurst and Mike Clark; Gold Arrow, David Northrup. Den 3, bear badge, Eric Kuehne; Den 4, bear badge, Rodney Flynn; Gold Arrow, Michael Keith.

Den 5, bobcat badge, Don Swygard; Den 6, wolf badge, Gold and Silver Arrows, all to Ronnie Kassing; Gold Arrow, Mike Hollingshead; Wolf and Gold Arrow, Roger Scheer; Lion badge and Gold Arrow, Michael Scheer.

Round Up badges, Lewis Hammer and Scott Rigg. Pat Asper, a Country Companies safety specialist from Normal, Ill., was the speaker and his topic, Three Every Minute. The Sauk Area Council Executive, Art Allen of Quincy, also spoke briefly.

Young Nobleman's Salad Days

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The 10th Earl of Shaftesbury — Anthony Ashley-Cooper — has all the credentials to be a leader of the Jet Set's Beautiful People.

He manages the family estate of 9,000 acres near Wimborne in Dorset, England; owns the rights to sandy wealth at the bottom of the largest lake in Ireland; has quarries in Belfast, a chalet in Switzerland and is a skier, sports shooter and mountaineer.

However, the 28-year-old earl says London may be swinging but "I'm out of it." Even though he drives two or three days a week from St. Giles to London in his Aston Martin too quickly to suit his Italian bride, Lord Shaftesbury says his is the calmer world of the concert hall.

The voice is quiet with an accent honed by years at Eton and Oxford. His worldly worries center on raising money for the severely handicapped and crippled children and for the London Philharmonic Orchestra and the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra — not getting a spot at the Salisbury pub to lift a pint with Richard and Liz.

The children have special houses on his estate and are supported by the Shaftesbury Society founded by his grandfather in 1844. He recently escorted Queen Elizabeth on a tour of a new children's home in Bournemouth.

A major portion of his busy schedule goes to managing the estate. As a boy "I grew up on the farm" and the efficiency of Danish farming and automation fascinate him. He envisions a factory farm; in a sense, farming in layers or in a kind of skyscraper. Another busy bit of entrepreneurship now involves getting the water rights to the lake in Ireland.

This revelation led his wife to exclaim, "You mean you don't own the water?"

The couple met on a Swiss glacier, married last July. This reveals the earl's interests outside the concert hall or in farming.

A mountain guide who worked on his estate to learn English talked him into climbing. Once he tried it he was "captured by the beauty and awe of the mountains. You can feel a conceit of what you do in life but when you get in the mountains, they make you feel small."

In Switzerland he likes to take a single-engine plane to a glacier and ski down the several thousand feet of slopes. This avocation led to a question of whether many are interested in challenges today.

The earl feels, and the countess agrees, that "it is more difficult for people today to accept challenges unless they are willing to go out of their way to find them. An extreme example may be rowing the Atlantic. It may be ridiculous but just to set out doing it is a challenge."

Realizing the "cool it" attitude of most made him admire the citizens of Charleston, S.C. He was there recently to launch the planning for the South Carolina Tricentennial in 1970. He is a direct descendant of Lord Ashley-Cooper, one of the founding lord proprietors of the Carolinas.

"I found the people of Charleston charming and diplomatic, with savoir faire," he commented. This he attributes to their Huguenot background.

"I was most impressed that they realized the importance of preserving history. It is refreshing to find a sense of preservation among people who also wish to progress in a modern world."

The youthful earl believes everyone admires royalty and he is an avid fan of Prince Philip. But he does knock certain types of progress.

He sums up the mod rage and miniskirts with: "The conservative world of Savile Row and the progressive world of Carnaby Street can never meet. 'Dress is more casual in the country,' as a result of changes," he admits. "Some don't always put on a jacket and tie for dinner."

"However, one can't sit down to dinner casually dressed when one's butler is in black." Of course not.

Signs Hint Canadian Leader Will Step Down

By MAX HARRELSON
OTTAWA (AP) — Lester B. Pearson is approaching two important milestones — his 70th birthday and the end of his fourth year as prime minister. The betting is that he will retire late this year or early in 1968 so a younger man can lead the Liberal party in the next election.

The prime minister will be 70 April 23, one day after he begins his fifth year as head of the government. He is happier at the moment than he has been in a long time, friends say, and he has shown no signs of slowing down. They express doubt, however, that he relishes the hardships of another strenuous political campaign a year or two from now. For this reason, they believe he will step down.

Asked recently about his plans, he said: "I feel it is my duty to stay in my present post as long as the party I lead wishes me to do so, and by the party I mean all of the party. If there were any substantial group inside the party that felt the time had come for a change of leadership, I would not wish to remain in office."

White Hall Hospital Notes

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Hattie Martin of this city was admitted Feb. 16th, as a medical patient.

Carl Walters of Carrollton, was admitted Feb. 16th, for dental surgery.

Miss Ethel Culbertson of this city, was admitted Feb. 17th, as a medical patient.

Tammy Maberry, 3 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayberry of Manchester was admitted Feb. 17th, as a medical patient.

Marie J. Robertson of this city, was admitted Feb. 19th, as a medical patient.

Rev. Albert Hinners of Roodhouse, was admitted Feb. 19th, as a medical patient.

A daughter was born Feb. 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Talkington, Jr. of Hillview, weight 7 pounds 7 1/2 ounces, named Karen June.

William David Downs of Roodhouse was admitted Feb. 21st, for treatment of a fractured ankle.

Dismissals during the past week were Mrs. Hazel Burch transferred to Hilltop Haven; Clifford Cox, Carl Walters, Tammy Mayberry, William David Downs.

NEW BRIDGE FOR APPLE CREEK SPAN

WHITE HALL — Robert C. French, Supervisor of Greene County Highways reports a new bridge to replace the old one over Apple Creek on Highway nine, the White Hall - Athensville road east of White Hall. The replacement is 90 feet in length, and will have a roadway width of 22 feet with a treated timber deck.

The bridge is a steel truss which has been cut into sections which will be reassembled and sections welded together.

This location will be closed for the next several weeks but should be open by the time farming operations start.

Caritas Lodge To Serve Ham N'Beans Mar. 6

Caritas Rebekah Lodge 625 met Feb. 16th at the IOOF temple on East State street with Lonnie Kitzelman, N. G., presiding. All officers were present.

Announcements were made during the business session. Mar. 1st a talking picture on The State of Illinois will be seen at 8 p.m. at the local IOOF Temple. Refreshments will be served. On Mar. 6th there will be a ham and bean supper at the local temple, sponsored by Caritas. Tickets are being sold by members.

Evelyn Kitchens was elected delegate to the District meeting to be held Mar. 3rd at Springfield. Potluck dinner, semi-formal, will be at 6:30 p.m. with Oakleaf lodge entertaining officers.

Donations were made to the Harmony and Friendship funds. Reported ill at home were Florence Marine, Alta Martin, Austin Cockerill and Helen Fanning. At Holy Cross hospital, Eulalia Harris and Alta Hunderford; at Passavant hospital, William Baldwin and at Modern Care, Maude Ratliff.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the social committee, Beulah Ledford, Bill Ledford, Ruth Hoover, Minnie Hitt and Elizabeth Bourne. Tables were decorated in keeping with George Washington's birthday.

Bingo was enjoyed, Margaret Tayman and Laura O'Neil were on the entertainment committee. Helen Sikes received the guest prize.

DEAN OF WOMEN TO ADDRESS CLUB

ASHLAND — The Ashland Junior Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. H. A. Volkmier Thursday, March 2. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Walter Jurgens, Mrs. George Jekisch and Mrs. Don Parsons. Mrs. Edward Hopper, dean of women at Illinois College, will present the program.

which led to the resignation of several men high in his administration. Although no one questioned the prime minister's integrity, some critics suggested that he had not acted with enough vigor to deal with the men involved.

An interviewer asked him to compare his life as prime minister with his experiences as a diplomat.

"In politics," he replied, "the decision has to be made and you have to live with its results the next day; and you have to be judged on that decision within the next year or so."

"And you alone are responsible for making it. In diplomacy the responsibility is very often diluted. That's why politics is a much lonelier job than diplomacy. Also, the pressure is greater. The misunderstanding of what you are trying to do is greater. In politics you are often attacked personally and that makes it sometimes a little harder to take."

If Pearson has given his blessing to any candidate to succeed him, he has not indicated it publicly. Possibilities include Foreign Secretary Paul Martin, who at 63 is the Cabinet's veteran. He ran against Pearson in the 1958 leadership contest.

purpose in libraries: they are read by the handicapped reader as well as the average reader who likes large print.

The books now available in the Jacksonville Public Library include older titles that have retained their popularity. Some of the older books are: Call of the Wild, by Jack London; Huckleberry Finn, by Mark Twain; Mutiny on the Bounty, by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall; and Wuthering Heights, by Emily Bronte.

The recent popular books include: Cry, the Beloved Country, by Alan Paton; The Nun's Story, by Kathryn Hulme; Travels With Charley, by John Steinbeck; and The Yearling, by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings.

These books are now on display in the library. More large print books will be purchased in the future if there is sufficient demand.

Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. Deane Cannell and committee served delicious individual cakes, mints, coffee and tea from an attractive table centered with red rosebuds with white candles.

Illinois Power Seeks Reduction For Services

Illinois Power Company has filed a rule change with the Illinois Commerce Commission doing away with the present $77.00 charge for underground service lines to houses in subdivisions which have underground distribution, Lerton Krushas, manager here announced today.

The original free underground distribution plan for new subdivisions was announced by Illinois Power a year ago, on January 18, 1966, as part of a $28 million dollar modernization and streamlining of facilities. Under that rule change (Rider "Q") subdivisions of 8 or more lots were entitled to free underground primary and secondary distribution lines with pad mounted transformers. The rule provided that with the exception of customers with major electrical appliances in the new homes a charge of $77.00 per house would be made for installing underground service from the distribution line to the house. Today's rule change removes the money requirement.

In a letter of transmittal, the Power Company said in part:

"Further studies made in connection with the pending proceedings before the Commission relating to promotional practices of electric and gas utilities raised question in our minds as to whether the provisions of Rider Q relating to refunds of contributions in the case of medallion homes are authorized by the Public Utilities Act. Therefore, in order to remove any doubt, Illinois Power Company has revised Rider Q to remove the provisions for such refunds from this Rider and at the same time to further liberalize the provisions by removing the requirements for contributions by paragraph 4 of such Rider.

"The effect of the changes covered in the above filing is that the company will install, without charge, up to 100 ft. of

OPEN HOUSE TODAY FOR KANE COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Brown of Kane, will hold Open House on Sunday, February 26 in observance of their Golden Wedding anniversary. The celebrants will receive relatives and friends from 1:30 to 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon at their home. The couple was married on February 24, 1917 in Carrollton. No invitations are being mailed and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

underground service cable to any new building in a subdivision with underground distribution. Free underground service facilities will also be furnished to new buildings in overhead distribution areas provided the applicant contributes the cost of the underground service pole riser.

"It is estimated that the additional cost of furnishing underground service connections under the proposed provisions, over the next ten years, is equivalent to a revenue reduction of $248,000 per year."

Chinese Act 'Bombs' In Moscow

WAVING THEIR LITTLE RED BOOKLETS, "The Thought of Mao Tse-tung," Chinese students stage an anti-Soviet demonstration on the grounds of their embassy in Moscow.

By FRED SPARKS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
MOSCOW — (NEA) — Here in the heartland of world communism I am witnessing massive events which might well be the most important events of the last half of this sorry century.

These events, which find China sabotaging Russian aid to Hanoi, might relieve the pressure on young men struggling in the lousy rice paddies of Vietnam and might bring old men to negotiate. They might in good time stop the killing.

For example, the other night while partaking of caviar and vodka at a swinging diplomatic soiree, I stood alongside two jabbering North Vietnamese. A multilingual friend with me overheard the Vietnamese warring out loud about Chinese sabotage, for while Peking contributes nothing but lip service, without Soviet hardware the North Viets are as helpless as the Beatles without an amplifier.

The disciples of Chinese chairman Mao Tse-tung insist they have the real Red religion, comrades.

To publicize the same I've seen them here in Moscow riot at airports and depots, shout insults at Soviet leaders and snake dance like college kids high on pot.

Imagine if the Red Chinese rumbled at Washington National airport and blasted LBJ. Our cops would use their heads for soccer balls.

I was amazed to see the Moscow cops, determined not to make any instant martyrs, end the demonstrations in virtually nonviolent manner.

After each rumble the headline-seeking Chinese swore they were kneed and gouged, which is so much egg foo yong.

I saw two Chinese officials, for the benefit of photographers, stand in the doorway of their embassy. One exhibited a "black eye" and the other a "bloody nose." Believe me, the Chinese had liberally used shoe polish and ketchup.

If the Chinese play-acting was intended to gain sympathy here it bombed, as I learned from the leadership of this community.

At Moscow's magnificent indoor track, the tall, handsome Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, perhaps the world's greatest broad jumper, towed himself and competed in Peking and Shanghai and they were always perfectly friendly. Now I think they've gone crazy—spitting on our women and children in Peking. We've had about enough."

Serge Mikhailov, best-selling author and topnotch movie director, also believes the Chinese have blown their stacks, lost their marbles and gone ape. Mikhailov entertained me in his fine apartment, which has every Mark Twain book on its shelves and said via interpreter: "The Chinese are forgetting their ancient manners, the terrible way they've turned on Russia after all our help. They're monkeys."

A man of considerable importance whom I cannot quote by name, one who had lost an eye and a foot at Stalingrad in World War II, made even more ominous comments when I met him in his freezing-cold office. "We have 4,000 miles of primitive border with China," he said. "Let hotheads remember that the approaches to Russia are seeded with the bones of mischief-makers — Napoleon, Hitler and others. If the berserk Chinese overreach themselves, well..."

He drew a finger across his throat, which means the same in Moscow that it does in New York or Peoria.

When I saw this Soviet hero draw his finger across his throat referring to the world's most populated Communist nation, I had a feeling that I was seeing a momentous symbolic gesture.

And as I type this cable, looking out of my hotel window across a snow-carpeted square facing the powerful gray walls of the Kremlin, I sense that I have begun this assignment in Russia in a box seat on living history.

Trophies Awarded

The Scott County 200 Bushel Corn club held their first banquet Wednesday evening at the First Christian church. Robert A. Brown, chairman of the Scott County corn committee, was master of ceremonies.

Trophies were presented to three corn club members: David Worrell, Dick Coon and Truman Scott.

Scott County Farm Adviser George Myers introduced the evening speaker, Richard Nelson of Athens, who discussed "New Ideas For Higher Yields." Sponsors for the banquet in addition to the Scott County Cooperative Extension representatives were: Alsey Lumber Company, Scott County Service Company, Neat, Condit and Grout National Bank, Bank of Bluffs and the First State Bank. Approximately 100 attended.

Other participants in the contest were Richard Coon, Robert Coon, James R. Coultas, A. J. Edginger, Weldon Fearnely, Gary Hurrellbrink, Delbert Rabe, Truman Scott, Robert S. Smith, J. Maurice Spencer, Fred Still and David Worrell.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market had another drab performance last week as it consolidated its big gains of January. In a trading week cut to four days by the Washington's Birthday holiday, 37,510,960 shares changed hands compared with 44,877,940 the previous week of five sessions.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a slight loss of 3.51 at 847.33. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week lost 2.4 at 314.7.

Of 1,577 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 763 fell and 673 rose.

One of the worst blows suffered by Wall Street was word Monday that General Motors would have to close 22 of its 23 U.S. auto assembly plants because of a continuing strike at a parts plant in Mansfield, Ohio. This accompanied a dreary drop in the market Monday.

In the Monday session, however, stocks cut their losses considerably in late trading, possibly anticipating short interest on the New York Stock Exchange would surprise the experts by rising instead of falling. Since this represents the amount of stock which must be bought in the future to repay borrowed shares sold short, it represents a bullish technical drop.

The next day, however, was dull and mixed as traders anticipated Wednesday's holiday.

Continuing a recent trend, lower-priced stocks were in the spotlight again. Brunswick, up 1% at 12 1/2 as most active stock, was responding to a dramatic turnabout in its profits picture. Among other actively traded issues, Benguet rose 3/4 to 3, American Photocopy advanced 1/2 to 9 1/2, Republic Corp. added 3/4 to 9 1/2 and Roan Selection Trust gained 1/4 to 10 1/2.

The bond market registered a substantial decline last week. An announcement that federal agencies would buy government issues maturing in over a year spurred a rally late in the week which failed to offset earlier declines.

The Rev. Neil Cronin, a Catholic curate, talked with DeSalvo in the station.

"He was very calm and wondered what the fuss was about," the priest said. "He was very nonchalant. He asked me if I had come to give him the last rites on the church."

"Albert kidded about some candy bars, but he refused to answer questions about where he stayed last night."

An alert for DeSalvo was given Friday to law enforcement agencies throughout the East.

The search centered in the Lynn area after police received a tip that a man answering DeSalvo's description had been seen getting out of a car in the community Friday morning.

The other two men who escaped with DeSalvo surrendered Friday night in Waltham, another suburb of Boston.

Massachusetts authorities arrested two of DeSalvo's brothers Saturday. Richard, 32, and Joseph, 37, were charged with aiding DeSalvo after his flight from the hospital. They pleaded innocent and were released on bail.

Charlie Burnin, an associate of DeSalvo's attorney, said the escapee telephoned him shortly before his arrest and said:

"Call 'em off. I'm coming in. Come and get me."

Burnin said DeSalvo called from the store and asked that Bailey meet him and arrange for his surrender.

Burnin said Bailey, who issued a statement Friday urging DeSalvo to surrender, was in New York. Bailey was in South Carolina at the time of DeSalvo's escape.

Burnin said plans were being made at the time of DeSalvo's arrest to send representatives to Lynn to meet the escapee when the arrest occurred.

The two DeSalvo brothers also pleaded innocent to being accessories to DeSalvo's fellow-escapees — Fred E. Erickson, 40, of Brockton, and George W. Harrison, 33, of Westford.

Officials said DeSalvo's brothers could not be charged with being accessories under a Massachusetts law which exempts close relatives from such a charge.

DeSalvo was reported to have told his attorney that he killed 13 eastern Massachusetts women in sexual attacks between June, 1962, and January, 1964.

Last month he was sentenced to life imprisonment after an all-male jury in Cambridge convicted him on charges of sexual assault on four women in their homes.

He also was convicted of robbery and burglary.

None of the latest charges were connected with the series of slayings of women.

DeSalvo was sent to Bridgewater, where he had been confined for some two years, while his conviction was appealed.

DeSalvo and his two companions escaped from Bridgewater by fashioning dummies with blankets and placing them in their beds to deceive guards. Each man was in a different cell.

Gaughan said the men apparently used a key to unlock cell doors, although none was reported missing.

State legislators said a full investigation would be made of conditions at the institution which houses senile and ill patients as well as persons with criminal records.

Laborites Press

Move Against

London Gambling

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government is cracking down on American gambling interests in London as part of a massive cleanup campaign of the nation's wide-open gaming clubs.

A laborite legislator expressed fear of "Mafia money" coming into the country.

The banning from Britain of American actor George Raft, host and chairman of London's plush Colony Sporting Club, pinpoints the growing government campaign.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins is understood to be considering whether to allow another American director of the Colony Club, Dino Cellini, to remain in the country. The traditionally cautious Home Office will neither confirm nor deny published reports that Cellini's position is under review.

There is widespread belief here that Raft is not the first American with gambling connections to be barred by Britain.

Gordon Bagier, labor party legislator, said he would ask Jenkins in the House of Commons March "how many American citizens have been prohibited immigrants in the last 12 months because of their connection with crime and gambling."

Bagier, 42, has been gathering evidence about American money pouring into Britain to finance gaming clubs. He said one London club made a clear profit of $4.2 million last year.

The British churches' council on gambling reported the nation's 4,000 gaming houses made $2.56 billion in 1965—about half the British government's entire defense budget.

Labor To Press

Demands For

'Fair Share'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The nation's top labor leaders Saturday spurned a Johnson administration plea not to try catching up with the cost of living all at once in this year's bargaining for millions of workers.

"The vast majority of wage and salary earners have not received a fair share of the benefits of the national economy's expansion," said the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Much of last year's wage hikes were wiped out by the sharpest rise in living costs in a decade and labor unions are justified in seeking greater gains in 1967, the council said.

It added that organized labor will not heed the strong hint dropped by President Johnson's economic advisers against demanding cost-of-living wage escalators in addition to regular pay hikes.

Wage escalators in labor contracts give workers automatic pay increases whenever the government's consumer price index goes up. Escalators are becoming a major issue in negotiations with industry.

"We oppose the Council of Economic Advisers' new strictures against cost-of-living escalators and other collective bargaining measures to offset the impact of an increased price level on workers' earnings," the labor council said in a statement.

It said the AFL-CIO will continue supporting its 129 affiliated unions in "seeking economic justice" for their total of some 13.5 million members.

The labor leaders said they were pleased by one part of last month's report by Johnson's economic council which dropped the 1966 guideline policy that sought to hold wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year.

"We did have guidelines but they're not around any more," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Among the objects of their wrath were President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam, Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung of Red China, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Official sources said U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and his colleagues at the other allied nations in the Vietnam war are to meet here Monday to review developments since the Manila summit conference last October. They are also to have preliminary talks about a conference of allied foreign ministers, perhaps to be held in Washington in April.

An act of clemency decreed by chief of state Nguyen Tan Thieu for the lunar new year Feb. 17 freed three Americans sentenced by a Vietnamese military court last summer to five years in prison on charges of violating South Vietnam's current regulations.

A U.S. government official said the men released were Louis J. Frazier, 31, a merchant seaman of Belmont, Mass.; Coy G. Bond of Canon City, Colo.; and Leroy F. Frieden of Crockett City, Calif., both employed by U.S. contractors in Vietnam.

A snack table was set up and the party concluded with a late hour dessert.

MAN HELD FOR DWI — A 56 year old Jacksonville man was held in the Morgan county jail Saturday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Richard W. Kelley of 717 East Douglas was taken into custody late Saturday morning by city police at the corner of West State and Prairie. Officers were alerted of the subject's condition earlier by a local resident.

Kelley was being held in lieu of $200 bond.

150 Volunteers For Heart Fund Canvass Today

Approximately 150 volunteers will canvass Jacksonville and South Jacksonville this afternoon to collect money for the Morgan County Heart Fund.

The volunteers will be participating in "Heart Sunday", annually the high point of the Heart Fund Campaign.

Mrs. Barbara Woodridge, Heart Sunday Chairman, said today's door-to-door canvass will be conducted between noon and 5 p.m. She said no specific goal has been set, although it is hoped this part of the drive will match or better last year's Heart Sunday total of about $2,150.

Morgan County Heart Fund Chairman Mrs. Helen Mayberry, has urged everyone to give as much as possible, remembering that it is their gift that helps find out more about prevention of the number one health enemy — heart attacks.

Researchers See

Useful Role For

Electric Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts said Saturday night that the electric automobile may soon be practical for short haul trips.

But when the family wants to hit the road for several hundred miles at expressway speed they will still need their gasoline driven car.

This was the gist of a Federal Power Commission staff study made at the request of the Senate Commerce Committee, which is concerned about air pollution.

In sending the study to Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., FPC Chairman Lee C. White said "we found that the technology for limited range electric battery-powered vehicles exists today," although the report itself estimated it would take about 10 years to develop, test and tool up for mass production of acceptable short-distance vehicles.

"Present electric car technology, however, is not adequate," White said, "to replace the internal combustion engine passenger car for long-distance expressway travel."

The study defined a long-distance vehicle as one traveling several hundred miles a day at sustained speeds of 50-60 miles an hour. A short-distance vehicle, in the same context, is one that is required to travel "substantially less than 150 miles a day and can remain stationary for 8 to 12 hours of each 24 hours to allow for the recharging of batteries."

Development of a suitable battery was described as the most important research item, although the report said also that "much needs to be done on electric motors, controllers and chargers."

Lucille Allen Dies Saturday

Mrs. Lucille Allen, 55, of 908 Beesley, passed away at 11:30 p.m. Saturday at Holy Cross hospital where she had been a patient 19 days.

The body was taken to Cody and Son Memorial Home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Seeks To Amend

Plan Governing

Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said Saturday he is preparing a package of revisions to the presidential campaign financing plan he pushed through Congress last year.

Long told a reporter he expects to introduce his proposed changes shortly, probably before President Johnson submits to Congress his recommendations on the same subject.

The Louisiana Senator said his amendments will not alter the basic principle of the plan — the payment of the bulk of future White House campaign expenses out of government revenues.

As the plan cleared Congress in the closing hours of the 1966 session, it set up a permanent program of government financing of presidential campaigns out of voluntary taxpayer contributions.

It takes effect next year and could make available to the Democrats and Republicans $30 million each for their 1968 campaigns.

The plan creates a presidential campaign fund into which each taxpayer could contribute $1 annually — $2 for a couple — by checking a box on his income tax return.

Long noted that last year's bill established only general guidelines as to how the money should be spent. He recalled that he said during the debate that further legislation might be necessary to spell out details.

His proposed amendments, he explained, will cover at least two subjects — sharp limitations on the amount of private contributions which can be made to the political parties in presidential campaigns and an easing of the provisions in the new plan affecting third parties.

As it was passed last year, the Long measure did not make any changes in the limitations in present law on private campaign contributions. These limitations generally are Livestock raising was practically the only industry in eastern Washington during the state's early days.

George Segal Is Still Searching For Surprises

By JOAN CROSBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — George Segal has gone from killer cop to cop killer, which doesn't sound like much progress but is.

As a killer cop he was an unknown on television. As a cop killer in the film, "St. Valentine's Day Massacre," he is a movie star.

Segal, who can currently be seen as a lone wolf spy in 20th Century-Fox's "The Quiller Memorandum," is a lively, witty, bright young man who has several fine movie credits to his name and is kept so busy he has little time for television, unless it is something special like his role in last season's highly successful "Death of a Salesman."

Unlike some actors who feel they know everything about acting, he says, "There is so much to learn. I hope there will be some surprises in 'The St. Valentine's Day Massacre,' things I learned playing Quiller. That role most satisfied me so far. As much as I cringe when I watch myself on the screen, my reaction when I saw 'The Quiller Memorandum' was 'I like that guy.' Before that role, the one I liked best was in 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?'"

George says he doesn't go along with the European idea of doing any kind of role because the director is famous, even if he plans to improvise half the picture. "You hear actors say 'I'll do anything for you, sir.' Not me. I want to see a script."

He's delighted with his gangster role in "The St. Valentine's Day Massacre."

"It's every boy's dream to play a gangster and shoot a tommy gun, just as it every boy's dream to be in a western. I was in a western, 'Invitation to a Gunfighter,' which was distinguished because it was an actionless western. Besides, that was Yul Brynner's western. I'm still waiting for mine."

Has success changed Peter Deuel, now that the handsome young man has won stardom in ABC-TV's "Love on a Rooftop"? You bet!

"I have matured and grown since the show started in June in a way that I would imagine would take five years—or maybe 10—in a job where nothing drastic took place. I have grown up. There are still areas where I will continue to grow. But I spend a lot of time just grinning and laughing and giggling. I'm so pleased with what is happening. I'm almost smug with my emotional well-being. We all strive to be totally emotionally healthy. I feel I have won a big battle in learning the areas where I am not healthy and those where I am."

Peter took a sip of his drink, asked the waiter if it would be permissible for him to remove his jacket in the hot, empty hotel dining room, then said, "I used to be pushy. I would take my coat off and hope someone would ask me to put it on so we could have words. Now I ask."

His rise to top television billing has been quick. After a supporting role in Gidget, also produced by Screen Gems, which produces "Love on a Rooftop," he was given his current assignment.

"Acting is schizophrenic," he says. "Part of me always believed I would make it in a big way, but another part would answer, 'You're a hum and it will never happen.' Now, I am beginning to believe more and more in the first part."

Engineers Meeting Transportation Challenges In U.S. Cities

By Dr. Paul W. Shuldiner

Office of the Under Secretary for Transportation U. S. Department of Commerce

Four, three, two, one, zero—lift off! a familiar sound in today's age of space.

Yet to those of us still on the ground, crawling to work on traffic-clogged highways or jockeying and jammed in public conveyances, there must be frustrating irony in the realization that men are circling the earth in the time it takes to get to our jobs and back.

Perhaps this contrast was in the mind of President Johnson when he remarked, upon signing the High Speed Ground Transportation Research and Development Act: "The same science and engineering, technology which gave us our airplanes and our space probes, I believe, could also give us better and faster and more economical transportation on the ground. And a lot of us need it more on the ground than we need it orbiting the earth."

New Challenges

As the transportation needs of the nation grow and change, and as new problems replace the old, so does the art and science which the engineer brings to bear in meeting these new challenges. Nowhere has the need for new engineering insights and skills been greater than in the burgeoning metropolitan regions in which two-thirds of America lives and works and which, by 1980, will house the activities of over 80 percent of our nation's population. There can be little doubt that the movement of people in and among metropolitan areas is the most critical transportation problem we face today and will face in the years ahead.

The technological solutions to these problems are evident in the freeways and transit systems which serve the hundreds of millions of trips made each day to work, to shop, to school, and for all the public and private purposes which make up a day in urban America.

Less familiar are the modest miracles which are being forged in the engineering laboratories of industry, universities, and government. Many of these innovations make use of technology already developed in the aerospace and electronics fields; others will require scientific and engineering innovations of their own devising.

One major area of technological advance made by engineers in recent years has been extending the ability of our existing streets and highways to carry traffic with greater efficiency, safety and dispatch. Radar, sonic, and magnetic detectors are being used to take the pulse of traffic at key locations, and, through a central computer, to control and coordinate the settings of traffic signals at dozens of intersections at once.

Central Computer

Computers will also be employed to govern the operations of transit vehicles, positioning trains within a foot or less at stations, and assuring fail-safe operation at high speeds with intervals as close as 90 seconds between trains. Magnetically encoded credit cards will be used to gain entry to and exit from these transit systems.

Planning Required

Comprehensive transportation planning programs, initiated in a limited way in a few cities during the mid-fifties, are now required by law in all urban areas of 50,000 persons or more as a condition of receipt of Federal highway funds. These studies are based upon analyses of the travel habits and desires of families derived from interviews with a representative sample of households. Given these data, and information about the existing and potential economic and social structure of the community, the engineer is better able to insure that technology will serve not its own ends, but the needs and aspirations of society.

The continued growth and gradual coalescence of urban areas into vast metropolitan regions extending over hundreds of miles, represents the newest transportation frontier. The Northeast Megalopolis Corridor, running from north of Boston to Richmond, Virginia, and including some 40 million people in its 40,000 square miles, is the largest and most complex of these metropolitan agglomerations.

This region is currently the focus of a Federal government study, in which a team of engineers, economists, urban planners, and other physical and social scientists is assessing the potential of various existing and proposed transportation alternatives in meeting the travel and developmental needs of this 11 state area.

The engineering innovations and social insights arising out of this study will have profound implications for generations to come, not only in the Northeast Corridor, but also in the Los Angeles-San Francisco, Milwaukee - Chicago - Detroit, Paris-Brussels, and Moscow-Leningrad complexes as well.

Social Responsibility

Within the cities and between them, in transportation as in all aspects of physical development, the engineer is now, more than ever, sensitive to his grave social responsibility as the progenitor of modern technology.

As stated by Robert Wood, Under Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the charge is unmistakable: "You may build it well or you may build it carelessly, but one way or the other, you will build it. By the end of this century you may know whether what you have built represents a civilization that is worthy of respect and emulation around the world." Aware and involved, the engineer must meet this challenge.

Ground effects machines, operating on a cushion of air on water or land, will carry people safely at great speeds.

Drawing the favorite's role in most tournaments can usually mean a jinx, but the Jacksonville Crimsons have never seemed to mind. The Crimsons drew that spot again this season and are overwhelming favorites to breeze to their fourth straight Regional title this week.

will be playing the same club as last year in the Regional championship game Friday night. Last year JHS had its hands full before putting down a stubborn Virginia outfit.

A high-scoring trio of senior Abe Brown, sophomore Duane Mounts and senior Duane Hess have been the Crimson scoring punch this season, averaging over 40 points a game between them. Senior forward Robin Manker and senior guard Rich Coble round out the JHS starting unit, averaging about seven points a contest.

Throughout the campaign coach Frank Long's crew has displayed an exciting brand of basketball, and have been out of only one game all year. A full-court press and a fast-breaking offense have been year-long features.

Senior Bob Donovan has played an important sixth-man role most of the year, and took the Crimsons out of several tight spots. Freshman Chad Ormiston has logged considerable action since Christmas, and displays a potent scoring ability from around the key area. As in the past several years, Quincy and Springfield. If the pairings go according to the coaches' ratings, JHS opening contest Tuesday.

Despite winning more games than the previous season, the Routt Rockets had what coach Fred Curtis calls a disappointing year in 1966-67. But, with a few breaks, the Rockets could have vastly improved their 6-14 final.

Routt gave up an average of 61.5 points a game, but scored an average of 59.5, only two points difference.

"We had a lot of close ones," says Curtis. "A few breaks could have put us up to .500. We lost nine or ten games by seven points or less. We were real-

Winchester, an uncertain prospect before the season began, has compiled a 6-17 regular season slate which is termed disappointing by Wildcat coach Wayne DesCombes.

"Although we have had some discouraging aspects to this season, some of our boys have come along real well and have played good ball."

"Bob Moore has been a big rebounder for us, and has fashioned real steady play for the team. He is possibly our best all around player."

"With Larry Evans we have a good scorer whose hot streaks have often come at crucial times. His consistency has improved steadily throughout the year."

"Guard Don Campbell, a good ball handler has come along for us this year, also. Mike Mikus has been flashy at times, but his rebounding is good and he could burst out with a good performance in the tournament."

Poor shooting from the floor has hampered the Wildcats throughout the season, as the team sports an average of only 35 per cent.

Despite their recent losses, Winchester is seen as playing improved ball, by DesCombes. "We have been scrappier and a better hustling team in the last few games."

DesCombes has not seen New Berlin and knows little about the Pretzels, but envisions a good game if his team continues their recent efforts of good, hustling basketball.

DEFENDING CHAMPS: Top-seeded Jacksonville will not only be defending its Regional title this week, but will be going for its fourth straight such crown when action opens Tuesday night at the JHS Bowl. Front, l-r, are Benny Richardson, Ed Wingler, Abe Brown, Rich Coble, Otis Pitts and Mike Tendick. Back are manager Rich Evans, coach Frank Long, Chad Ormiston, Gerry McKean, Duane Mounts, Robin Manker, Duane Hess, Bob Donovan and manager Gary Stanberry.

No one expects the ISD Tigers to get past Tuesday night's opener with top-ranked Jacksonville, but the westsiders have already counted what might be called a mildly successful season.

Barry, in games that could have turned out the other way. Moore points to junior guard Terry Storey as probably his outstanding performer of the year. Storey finished the season with a respectable average of 13.0, on 274 points in 21 games.

"I was disappointed in Jesse Joyner the first half of the season, but he started to come around the last four or five games and had his best night of the season last week with 22 points.

"Steve Baker was a pleasant surprise the first half of the season, but because of his size (5-8, 130 pounds) I believe he was just physically tired the last half. Ron Penn was our best jumper, but scored only in spurts.

"Harry Bloomgren was not a big scorer, four or five points a game, but always got seven or eight rebounds and played well defensively." Moore has cause to look forward to next season, when the Tigers will lose only three of the ten-man tournament roster. The top four scorers, Storey, Joyner, Penn and Baker, are all back, plus sophomores Ron Speck, Dick Seed and Mike Kane, of whom Moores says, "They are probably the best sophomores we've had since I've been here."

Franklin's Flashes consider nearby Waverly no pushover, despite trimming the Scotties three times this year. Coach Gary Calhoun is anticipating a tough tussle in the Regional opener for Franklin.

"Waverly will be a good equal match for us, and I have the utmost respect for them. Everybody connected with both teams certainly knows what to expect, and it will take some hard work on our part as it has before, to win."

Calhoun, in his first year as the Flashes' mentor, has led Franklin to perhaps its best season in recent history, compiling an 18-5 mark and tying for second slot with Kincaid and Northwestern in the MSM conference.

"It has been a team effort," stresses Calhoun. "We have had balanced scoring in all of our victories, and the boys know what teamwork means."

"For our lack of height, we have done very well, but it has been hard work all season, and we have had good shooting eyes."

Steve Timmons is our leading scorer with an average of 21 points, and is also our leading rebounder. Max Dunseth and Greg Jackson are also scoring in double figures, and Jackson is our second rebounder, and our best team man.

"We use several defenses but rely mostly on man-to-man, with Rodnie Ball perhaps our outstanding defensive player. Henry Couturiaux is a good floor man, and a good reserve although he starts occasional-

A veteran ball club with little experience is what New Berlin coach Lou Silotto will bring into the regional meeting with Winchester in a tilt that will be the first meeting of the year for the two clubs.

"Inexperience and lack of size have hurt us this year, although we have had a lot of close ball games. In fact, three of our most recent losses have been by five points or less."

"Our defense has left something to be desired at times, and our shooting has been an unspectacular thirty-four per cent."

"Bob Kaaz is our leading playmaker and scorer with an average of fifteen points. He was named on the All-Conference honorable mention list." The Pretzels finished in fifth place in the Sangamo loop with a 2-6 mark.

"Keith Wichterman is perhaps our most experienced player and is our leading rebounder," continues Silotto. "Jeff Pyle, like Wichterman, hitting eleven points a game, is our most consistent ballplayer."

"Don Smith has played good ball in his first varsity year, and has been a regular starter. He is a great jumper and is our second rebounder." Silotto looks for an even game against Winchester, although the clubs have not seen

Second-seeded Virginia will, with an average of 17 points per game.

In Double Figures Sophomore Greg Reiterman, junior Harold Davis, and Gary Babbs, also a junior, are tallying in double figures.

Virginia coach Larry Overturf also speaks highly of soph Eddie Snow, a 5-9 guard who came off the bench to lead the Redbirds in the PMSC Tourney.

Overturf comes right to the point on his defense-press. "We press one hundred per cent of the time, figuring if we work hard enough and long enough at it the other team will break."

The Redbirds' first round opponent, Routt, knows just what to expect. The Rockets came within three points of a win over Virginia two weeks ago.

Tourney Losses Hurt

Reviewing the present season, Overturf mentions losses in the Beardsdown holiday tourney as a vital factor. "The losses came at a bad time, and did hurt our morale. We lost to Brown County in the first round, and to Chandlerville in the consolation brackets."

"Later we beat Brown County by eighteen points, and have since beaten Chandlerville twice, by twenty-five and by one. We were undefeated with seven wins entering the Beardsdown tournament."

Virginia should have a rosy future for coming seasons with such a young squad at present, but of course the emphasis is being reserved. "We definitely want another shot at Jacksonville," states Overturf emphatically. "This time the Redbirds are envisioned to do just that."

Wednesday's games could turn out to be the most contested tilts of the tournament. Second-rated Virginia (17-7) meets Routt (6-14), a team the Redbirds beat by only three points two weeks ago, in the opener, and third-ranked Franklin (17-5) takes on Waverly (9-13) in the nightcap. Franklin has already beaten Waverly three times this season, once by only a point.

The semi-finals will be held at 7:00 and 8:30 Thursday, with the championship tilt slated for 7:30 Friday. The winner advances to meet the Griggsville Regional winner next Wednesday evening in the Springfield Sectional.

JHS athletic director says tickets will be on a first-come, first-served basis, with no seats being reserved. Certain sections will be marked off for the respective schools. JHS season tickets are not good for the Regional. Ticket prices are $1 for adults and $.50 for students.

COACHES AGREE CHANGE COMING

Both college coaches in Jacksonville agree that probably too much fuss is being made over the current 'stalling debate' being waged by some of the big college coaches across the country.

Both MacMurray mentor Bill Wall and IC coach Bill Merris feel that the much-discussed 24 or 30 second mandatory shot rule would not have a chance of passing a coaches' vote now, but it is likely that a few years will change all this.

Wall, a past chairman of the National Basketball Coaches Association rules committee, says, "Probably too much is being made over the stall now, it's really not used that much. If the 24 second rule were brought to a vote now, it wouldn't get 10%."

"I DON'T want to see a mandatory shot rule, but I wouldn't be surprised if we don't have it in three or four years. I really don't think the stall is that much of a problem, because the rules pretty well take care of it. It still takes two teams to stall."

Wall, whose Highlanders have always a running brand of basketball, continues, "About 98% of the coaches are always in agreement on the rules, they say basketball is at an all-time high in popularity so leave it alone. But there are always a few with some new ideas, such as raising the basket and using three officials."

MERRIS, whose IC team ran its way to its best record in 12 years and an unofficial spot in a NAIA post-season tournament, says he wouldn't mind seeing a 30-second rule.

"I like to run the basketball, and speaking of our teams, it wouldn't hurt us too much. I don't think such a rule will be passed for a few years, but it seems like most of the professional rules soon get down to the college and high school levels, just like in football."

"The bad thing about it would be that it would have a bad effect on a college player, and certainly a high school player, to know he had to shoot, even if he forced the shot."

"There's no doubt in my mind that the fans like to see points, and such a new rule would probably be popular with the general public."

HERE 'N' THERE: Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Norris of Jacksonville recently while in 101 king mackerel and one Spanish mackerel while on a charter boat off Fort Meyers, Fla. It is thought the record catch for such a venture is 120. The local physician says they were biting so good he didn't even stop for lunch.

THE IHSA Friday announced the assignments of officials for this week's Regionals. Adron W. McMahon of Macomb and Roger Moore of Springfield will work the Jacksonville Regional. At Griggsville will be Fred Brenzel of Staunton and F. A. Strauch of Haddon; Bill Criswell of Duplo and John Murphy of Collinsville will work at Piasa Southwestern; and John Knezovich and Jerry Sumner of Peoria have been assigned to the Havana Regional.

THE MARCH 1 GAME here between MacMurray and Lewis College has been canceled by mutual agreement, according to an announcement last week by Mac athletic director Bill Wall.

THE 17TH ANNUAL Waverly Holiday Tournament next year will have teams from Athens, Auburn, Edinburg, Franklin, Girard, Glenwood, Kincaid, Mt. Olive, New Berlin, Northwestern, Pawnee, Routt, Stonington, Triopia, Virden and Waverly. Stonington and Edinburg are the only new outfits. Next year there will be a consolation bracket. This is the first time there has been such an arrangement. According to tourney officials, team members expressed a desire for the consolation setup, as it will assure each team of playing two games, and let fans have an opportunity to see more games.

LOCAL COLLEGES MacMurray and Illinois College are about as close as you can get in offensive statistics this year. District 20 NAIA statistics released Friday show Mac fifth in team offense, 88.6 per game, and IC sixth, 88.5 per outing. IC's soph standout Charley Martin is second in the District in rebounding, averaging 16.8 per game.

THE ORGANIZATIONAL meeting of the Little Eight League summer baseball group will be held in Riverton March 19. As yet no one has come forward to express a desire to manage the local City Power team. If there is to be a team, a representative will have to attend the meeting.

Wolves Breeze To Victory Over Payson By 69-42

PLEASANT HILL—The Pleasant Hill Wolves finished out regular season play by romping to an easy 69-42 non-conference win over Payson here Saturday night.

Never in trouble, the hosts ran up a twelve point spread in the first period, slacked off to lead at the intermission by ten, and poured it on to take a decisive 49-27 edge into the final frame.

John Franklin led all scorers for Payson with 28 markers, and Kenny Hart and Mark Browning chipped in 16 and 13, respectively for the winners. Browning and Franklin each notched 12 rebounds as the taller Wolves posted a substantial board edge over the visitors.

The Baugher brothers combined for 32 points in Payson's losing effort. It was victory number nine in 22 outings for the Pleasant Hill five.

3 Area Regionals Open This Week

At Griggsville

The scene will be different but the favorite will be the same when the Griggsville Regional begins play Monday night. Pittsfield's Saukees, hosts of the tourney a year ago, are favored to be successful in defense of the crown which advanced them to the Jacksonville Sectional one year ago.

This year's Griggsville champion will go on to the Springfield Sectional tournament March 8-10 and will vie with the Jacksonville Regional winner.

Meet Bluffs
The Saukees, currently sporting a respectable 14-8 record, will go against Bluffs in the opener at Griggsville Monday at 7:00 p.m. Bluffs, formerly a District participant, will bring an 8-15 slate into the Pittsfield tussle.

Fourth-seeded Mt. Sterling should have an easier time than formerly anticipated in advancing to the second round, as the Hornets' opponents will be the surprise champs from the Meredosia District, Perry. The Panthers, now 9-15 for the season, knocked off twenty-game victor East Pike by one point in the 'Dosh final last Friday.

Brown County, finishing the regular season with a 9-13 mark, will tangle with Perry in the nightcap Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Tuesday's pair of contests perhaps will be the most evenly matched, as second-seeded Beardstown will have to overcome the home-court advantage in meeting Griggsville in the opener at 7 p.m., and Rushville tangles with Chapin Triopia in the second tilt.

Beardstown will bring a 10-11 season mark up against the 2 Tornados, who are 13-9 against a bit lesser competition, but even in Regional play there is no denying a home court factor.

The situation will be similar in the 8:30 first-round final when Rushville, 13-11 against medium size schools, meets Triopia, which amassed an 18-5 mark mostly against smaller-enrollment clubs.

Monday's winners will tangle in semi-final action on Wednesday night, and Tuesday's victors meet on Thursday, both games scheduled for 8:00 p.m. The championship tilt is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Friday, March 3.

Wisconsin Keeps Spartans Out Of 1st Spot 68-64

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Fast-closing Wisconsin nudged Michigan 68-64 Saturday night to keep the Spartans out of first place in the jammed Big Ten basketball race.

The Badgers' fourth straight victory lifted them to 6-4 and a second-place tie with the Spartans who lost a chance to draw all scorers with 29 points on 12 of 24 from the field and 5 of 16 from the foul line. The Buckeyes outscored the visitors 33-30 but the field but hit only 16 of 33 from the foul line to Northwestern's 35 of 44.

Mike Weaver's 21 and Jim Burns' 18 led Northwestern.

At Havana

Three area teams will see action in the Havana Regional beginning Tuesday, but the top three seeds in the tournament belong to outsiders.

Mason City's Huskies rate the top spot, and will tangle with Petersburg Porta in the opener Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m. The Bluejays have suffered through a 6-17 season and are given a very slim chance of knocking off the favorites.

In Tuesday's second contest, Havana will face district winner Greenview in what rates as one of the closer opening-round matches. The Host Ducks, seeded fourth and the highest-rated area club, take an impressive 16-6 slate into the tournament, and Saturday claimed the Spoon River loop title.

Greenview, a tall Menard County hall club, routed Chandlerville for the title at Ashland after the Comets had edged another area outfit, the host Panthers, by a lone point in early District action.

Another highly regarded smaller school in Menard, Athens, will tangle with Astoria in Wednesday's first game. The 8:30 tussle will send third-seeded Manito Forman against Pleasant Plains.

Plains takes an above-average 14-win, 9-loss mark in the Havana action, and is rated fifth in the mid-season lists that determine tourney positions. The Cardinals narrowly missed snaring the Sangamo Conference crown last week, dropping a one-pointer in overtime to Glenwood for the title.

Semi-final games are on tap for Thursday night at Havana, with the 7:00 p.m. contest matching Tuesday's victors, while Wednesday's winners square off in the nightcap at 8:30. The championship game is set for 8:00 p.m. Friday.

Louisville Upset By Wichita St.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Wichita State rested and disciplined, knocked off second-ranked Louisville 84-78 Saturday night.

It was the season finale for Louisville, the Missouri Valley Conference leader and gave it a record of 23-3 and 12-2 in the conference.

Westley Unsel of Louisville scored 24 points but Melvin Reed of Wichita also dropped in 24 while Ron Mendell dropped in 17.

Wichita had gone to Cincinnati Wednesday night with only six players after seven others, including three starters, were suspended for missing a bed check.

Those who returned to action Saturday night scored 52 of the 84 points.

Wichita moved into the lead in less than six minutes when Reed's jump goal put the Shockers ahead 14-12. They stayed in command the rest of the way.

Wichita, 8-4, is one game behind second place Tulsa, 9-3.

At Piasa

Perhaps the most evenly matched of the four area Regionals will be staged at Southwestern High School in Piasa, with action beginning Monday evening in a pair of first round tilts.

Jerseyville, playing a strong independent schedule, is top-seeded, but second-rated North Greene, third-rated Calhoun of Hardin, and fifth-seeded Carrollton are all given shots at the crown.

The favored Panthers have amassed an 18-6 record for the year, third best in the area, and are expected to have no trouble with Brussels in the tourney opener Monday night at 7:00 p.m.

Carrollton will rate as a slim favorite over the host Southwestern Birds in the second contest Monday, despite the fact that the Hawks are seeded fifth and the hosts fourth. The Piasa five slipped a bit in Mid-season after a good beginning, and will bring a 9-13 mark into the tourney.

Carrollton Hot Lately
The Hawks, on the other hand, started out poorly but have come on strong, winning 12 of their last 15 games to record a 13-10 season slate. Carrollton knocked off highly rated North Greene for a share of the Illinois Valley conference title Tuesday's initial match will send the North Greene Spartans against Greenfield, and the second-rated White Hall club should not have any trouble. The Spartans carry a season record of 10-6, fourth best in the area, but slipped slightly late in the season with losses to Carrollton, Pleasant Plains, and Franklin before knocking off Triopia. The Tigers will take a disappointing 4-15 record against North Greene.

Calhoun Favored
A rapidly improving Calhoun outfit will tangle at 8:30 p.m., and the Warriors will rate as favorites despite a recent upset at the hands of the Wolves. The Pleasant Hill win snapped an 11 game Warrior win streak which helped bring the Calhoun season mark up to its present 16-7 standing. The Wolves are currently 9-13.

Monday's victors will tangle in semi-final action at 8:00 Wednesday, with Tuesday's winners squaring off at the same hour Thursday evening. The title will be decided Friday night with the same game time.

TOWN OF 1,100 WITHOUT WATER

ROSEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Roseville, a Warren County community of 1,100 persons, was without water Saturday and Mayor Pat Bagley said he didn't know when water service would be restored.

Roseville is south of Monmouth.

Early Saturday morning a main broke and allowed 60,000 gallons of water to pour out of the standtower. All morning efforts were made to locate the break which was believed to have been caused by subzero weather.

Mayor Bagley said the pumping station was intact and many of the townspeople were driving to it to obtain water.

Free Throws Let Clan Claim 80-74 Final Win

Claim 1st Over .500 In 6 Years

By BUFORD GREEN

MacMurray was outscored by 14 points from the field but turned 26 free throws out of 32 attempts into a season-ending 80-74 victory over Kentucky Southern of Louisville, at the Clan fieldhouse Saturday night.

The victory, not decided until the final 30 seconds, gave MacMurray a final 13-11 record and its first winning season in six years. The win also boosts the Clan's ten-year mark to 123-122.

The scoring of Al Killoran and Tom Cochran boosted the Highlanders into a 43-36 halftime lead before the same duo kept the hosts just a step in front of the scrappy Falcons throughout the second 20 minutes. Kentucky Southern, now 4-14, has been in existence for only two years and is playing its first season of competitive athletics.

The visitors, led by guard Dick Hughes, hit seven more field goals and shot 45% to the winners' 35% clip, but fell victim to 24 personals to only 12 on the hosts. Kentucky Southern never did reach the one-and-one stage.

Killoran finished with 28 points, including eight points in the final six minutes to half several Falcon threats, and Cochran threw in 20, including four of his ten free ones in the same time spread.

Off to Icy Start
Mac got off to an icy start, hitting only four of its first 18 shots, and trailed 12-5 and 14-7 before getting on the right track.

Killoran hit eight points, from the baseline, in a three-minute spread and shot the hosts to within one, 14-13, with 12:30 left in the first half.

Freshman guard Dennis Desmond hit his only three fielders of the night and Killoran and Fred Lewis team with him for ten straight points in a 2:30 time period to boost Mac into a 23-18 lead at the 9:50 mark.

With Chuck Hundley, Cochran and Dave Berst carrying the load, MacMurray managed to keep at least five points in front until Hughes led a surge that dipped the difference to 35-34 with 2:40 to play in the half. Cochran hit the last six points for the Clan, including a bucket with only four seconds left, to ease the hosts into a 43-36 intermission spread.

Killoran Leads Surge
Killoran ripped off five straight after Kentucky pulled within 43-41 to open the second for a 48-41 edge. From there until the half-way point the hosts led by at least and never more than five.

Kentucky Southern pulled within two points three straight times in the closing minutes, but buckets by Berst and Killoran each time boosted the edge to four.

Murray Upsets
W. Kentucky
MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Murray jumped on third-ranked Western Kentucky Saturday night and ended the Hilltoppers' 21-game basketball winning streak with a 75-69 victory.

The loss by Western, now 21-2 for the season, had no effect on the Ohio Valley Conference title since the Hilltoppers earlier wrapped it up along with a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Murray was ahead 38-30 at halftime but Western took command 53-46 with 10:55 left.

The Thoroughbreds rallied and tied the score at 57-57 with 5:27 to play, then went ahead to stay, 61-59 with 4:33 remaining.

Herb McPherson led Murray's upset drive with 24 points. Dwight Smith led Western with 17.

Kondla, Gophers
Cop 89-86 Margin
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tom Kondla's hot second-half shooting carried Minnesota to an 89-86 Big Ten victory over Michigan Saturday night, pushing the fallen Wolverines farther into the conference cellar.

Michigan, defending Big Ten champion, is 2-9 in the basement, while Minnesota hiked its league record to 4-7.

WARSAW GIVEN
"SOUVENIR"
WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Hanoi's port city of Haiphong, where Communist arms flow into Vietnam, has given Warsaw remnants of an American jet bomber shot down in that area, the Warsaw paper Kurier Polski reported, as "a dramatic, symbolic souvenir for the people of Warsaw, once inhumanly destroyed by Hitler's armies."

Killoran upped the count to eight at 71-63 with 5:52 showing, and Kentucky never got closer than three after that, as MacMurray went into a ball-holding game at the five-minute mark. The final eight Clan points came at the 15-foot mark, with Cochran and Killoran splitting the eight.

The Bowling Scene

by Sandy Petersen

Impressive individual totalling highlighted local league action again last week, as Jacksonville area keggers continued to post higher than normal game and series scores well into the 200 and 600 range.

Russ Zulauf carried over his domination of the lane action from last week's 876 set by posting respective four and three game totals of 863 and 631.

Zulauf's latest assault on the 900 barrier came on counts of 183, 234, 212 and 234 during Tuesday 3-Man Handicap League play. Despite Zulauf's hot hand, however, Baptist TV managed only a 2-2 night.

The top-running Bowling Center and second place Hem-brough Motors split in a head-to-head match, leaving the squads a half game apart.

Third place Powell's Body Shop nipped high team counts of 632 and 2282 on way to a 2½-1½ outing.

Zulauf's other high scoring feat was rolled in the Town and Country League, and helped maneuver third place Babst closer into contention.

Pabst, 2-1 for the night, picked up a game on Crown Finance, but stayed even with the second place Budweisers. Crown holds a five-game spread over the field.

Russ' 631 came on 197, 256 and 178 tallies.

Darrell Strubbe was another who found the alleys to his liking last week, shooting 600-plus sets in both the City and Senior Commercial leagues. Strubbe amassed a 638 in the City League on games of 245, 171 and 222 in pacing Newman's Shoes to the high game (1070) and a 2-1 decision.

May's Music shop upped its lead to four games over Olson's Cleaners via a sweep.

Strubbe's second high total, a 605, was recorded in the Senior Commercial League. His middle game of 256 also paced Matinizing to a team high 1095 game.

Triangle Club remained two games out in front of George's Pizza through the action, as both units suffered 1-2 nights.

More fine shooting came in the 3-Man Scratch Classic League where Paul Fox netted a fine 198, 192, 224, 222—836. Jack VanHuyning rated high game with his equally superb 254 outing.

Second place Wade and Dowland failed to pickup much on the leading Bowling Center unit despite the pace-setters' 1-3 night. Wade and Dowland went 2-2 to stand eight games back.

Price Masonry's 611 game and a 2258 total by Darwin Company rated team highs.

The tight Community League race remained deadlocked last week, as Kordite and Jim's Big Value each notched 2-1 decisions.

John Eoff supplied the hot shooting here with a 189, 201, 210—600 that paced Birdsell's Motor Shop to the high series —3085.

Other highs went to Harold Conlee on a fine 234 and V.F.W. for an 1123 game.

Schillinger's Gulf highlighted Pia-Mor League action last week with high tallies of 750 and 2149 that lifted the second-division club to a sweep for the night.

Doris Wheeler rolled a 154, 173, 176—503 for the series high, while Roberta McNeely posted a 192 effort for the game best. Hillcrest Mobile Homes headed the circuit by seven games.

Sally Hinnant put together games of 193, 197 and 191 for a superb 581 set that sparked Bowlerette League leaders Bates Market to a sweep. The counts helped maneuver Bates to week high team marks of 947 and 2470, and a seven-game advantage over second-running Ingram Electric.

Joyce Elliott rolled a 204 for high game of the week.

AP Picks All-Time College 5

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bradley of Princeton, Ed MacAuley of St. Louis, Bill Russell of San Francisco, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Would you pick those five players as an all-time college basketball All-America for the past 20 years?

They are the consensus choice of The Associated Press since the first AP All-America was selected in 1948.

Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, Jerry West of West Virginia, Bob Pettit of Louisiana State, Elgin Baylor of Seattle and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State is the consensus AP second team on this mythical all-time team of the last two decades.

Russell On 3rd Tom Gola of LaSalle, Walt Hazzard of UCLA, Alex Groza of Kentucky, Dave Bing of Syracuse and Cazzie Russell of Michigan would be a third team on the honorary squad chosen to mark the 20th anniversary this year of the AP's first All-America team.

Bradley, who became a legend at Princeton, is the only one of the first five to pass up pro basketball. He went to Oxford in England as a Rhodes Scholar after graduation in 1955. MacAuley, who played for St. Louis University in 1948 and 1949, played for the Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks in the National Basketball Association before retiring.

SHILL In Action Russell, Chamberlain and Robertson played their college ball in the 1950's and still are going great guns in the NBA with Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati, respectively. Russell helped the San Francisco Dons set an all-time college winning streak of 60 straight games. Since then he has helped the Celtics win eight straight NBA titles and currently is coach of the pro champions.

Honorable mention on the AP all-time squad would include Guy Rodgers of Temple, Tony Jackson of St. John's, N.Y., Len Chappell of Wake Forest, Bailey Howell of Mississippi State, Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Art Heyman of Duke, Dave Stallworth of Wichita, Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina, Clyde Lovellette of Kansas City, Hagan of Kentucky, Kevin O'Shea of Notre Dame, Frank Selvy of Furman, Dick Groat of Duke, Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola, Chet Walker of Bradley and Billy McGill of Utah.

Defending champions Jacksonville Foods No. 2 vaulted atop the Elks League standings last week via a 3-0 sweep over former leaders Cox Buick-Pontiac.

Lampitt led the way with the high series of the night, a 619, on games of 191, 216 and 212. Blackhawk's Tom Farrell took high single game honors with a 225. Farrell's 607 total aided Blackhawk to the high team tally, 1103, while Bates Market totaled 3148 for the series best.

Dunlap Court Beverages remained on top in the Queen Pin League by three and a half games last week behind the high scoring of Marian Manker. Mrs. Manker totaled 212, 190, 168—570 for individual bests, while leading Dunlaps to an 876 game.

Sixth-place Holsum Bread notched the series best by amassing a 2359 total.

Bob Sassenberger tossed in games of 245, 145 and 176 for a week high 566 series to high-light action in the K of C League. Sassenberger's high shooting sparked Mac's Clothing to high team series (3034) and a 2-1 night.

Top-running Leonard and Six increased its lead over Roach Plumbing to 8½-games with a 2-1 outing, aided by a 1043 high game.

Orleans Grain moved into a tie for the Civic League lead with Adams Sales and Service last Wednesday, despite the week high shooting (1080 and 3032) of Adams. Both squads now sport 44-28 records, five-games out in front of the Townsmen.

Frank Hynes sparked the latter unit with a 179, 197, 206—582 clocking last week. Dich Stacey recorded the high game on a 212.

The C-2 unit moved into a tie for second place in the Kordite Women's League last week via a 2-1 night on top scores of 832 and 2236.

Clara Robertson and Gloria Trumbo tied for series honors with 4085, while R. Carter notched the game best—106.

0-1's lead slipped to three-games during the action.

The Whirl Winds clipped a game off Birdsell Candies Thursday Nite Men's League lead with a 2-1 decision. Birdsell went 1-2 and now stands 7½-up on the fast-rising runnups.

Vance Harbin led the Whirl Winds' advancement with a fine 200, 188, 205—593 outing. Mark Antle netted the high game of the week.

GET DOWN: MacMurray's Gary Henning tries to get Jack Hughes of Western Illinois in position for a pin during this 152-pound battle at the Mac fieldhouse Saturday. Henning won this match 3-2 and the division crown, but Western Illinois shaded the Highlanders, 74-71.

Rock Island Wins State Mat Crown

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Rock Island rolled up 25 points and captured the Illinois State High School wrestling championship Saturday, with Evanson and Carl Sandburg finishing in a 2-2 point second-place tie.

Rock Island won only one individual crown and that came in the 145-pound division. Don White pinned Mike Mazzuca of Oak Park in 3:21. It was the only pin registered in the final.

Pekin and Champaign tied for fourth with 21 points each, followed by Niles East 18, Moline 17, Rich East and University Normal 16, Evergreen Park and Granite City 15.

Oak Park, Thornton Fractional North, Addison Trail and Joliet Catholic all finished with 14 points. Thornridge and West Chicago tied with 13 each. East Leyden, Orr of Chicago and Lincoln-Way scored 11 each, while Arlington, Aurora West, Joliet, Thornton, Grant, Oak Lawn, Oswego and Bremen had 10 each.

In the 103-pound division, Bill Fuchs of Granite City decided Western Jim Jackson of Aurora West, 9-2. Last year Jackson defeated Fuchs to win the 95-pound crown.

Spahn Returns To Baseball As Tulsa Manager TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Warren Spahn, forced into unhappy exile from baseball 17 months ago, returned jubilantly Saturday as manager of the Tulsa Oilers, Pacific Coast League farm club of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Oiler owner A. Ray Smith made the announcement of the popular "Oklahoma" pitcher's appointment and predicted "the winningest left-hander of all time will become the winningest manager of all time."

Smith, glowing with satisfaction at the selection of his No. 1 choice by Cardinal officials, said St. Louis General Manager Stan Musial had been pressured to name someone from within the Cardinal organization "but we fought a hard fight."

Smith said he received word from the Cardinals only 15 minutes before the news conference but "I felt so confident I asked Warren to be here."

"I hope you will love me in September as you do in February," Spahn quipped.

Spahn, who was a 20-game winner in 13 of his 21 major league seasons, retired as an active player in 1965 at age 44.

The smooth-as-silk southpaw's 363 major league victories is a record for left-handers. Spahn began his career with the Boston Red Sox, later Milwaukee Braves and closed out with brief stints with the New York Mets and San Francisco Giants.

Spahn, who lives on a ranch at Harborside, Okla., some 120 miles south of here, replaces Charlie Metro as Tulsa manager. Metro resigned several weeks ago.

WIU Shades Clan In District Meet

Depth Pays Off For Winners

By DAVE INGLES

Overall depth paid off for the Western Illinois wrestling team as the Leathernecks edged MacMurray 74-71 for the NAIA District mat crown at the Highlanders fieldhouse Saturday afternoon. North Central was a distant third in team points with 36.

MacMurray took four championships to only three for Western, but the winners placed five runnersup to only three Clansmen, and WIU had two consolation champs to a lone MacMurray third place.

No pins were recorded in the championship round, as all decisions were on points, two going into overtime periods and one being awarded on riding time. The Western win over MacMurray was a two-point Clan victory on the Macomb mats earlier in the season when Bob Kellogg, in the heavyweight bracket, brought MacMurray from three down to the win with a fall in the final match.

The decisive match Saturday was in the 191 pound class as Western's Craig Maddox decided Wayne Schurter of Mac 7-0 to break a 71-71 deadlock and send the Leathernecks ahead by three.

Have Last Chance Bob Kellogg missed a chance for a Clan tie or victory in the following and final heavyweight match when he dropped a 2-1 overtime decision to Lonnie Ipsen of Eastern Illinois. A Mac decision would have resulted in a tie for the title, and a pin would have given the Clan a two-point victory.

The four MacMurray champions were Ron Otto, Tom Knight, Gary Henning, and Larry Kolb. The Clan and Western met four times head on in the title round with each team taking two as Otto and Henning defeated their Leatherneck opponents.

Otto Starts String After two early North Central victories, Otto claimed Mac's first top slot with a 4-1 overtime decision in the 137 pound class over WIU's Harry Coffey. Otto, down 4-3 with 0:01 left in regulation time, notched a reversal to go up 5-4, only to have Coffey escape with one second left to knot it up at 5-5. Two takedowns in the extra frames gave Otto, now 15-1 for the year, the win.

Knight was the next Clan winner as he notched his twelfth of the season against only one loss and one tie, with a 2-0 shut-out over Jim Deoniah of Millikin in the 145 pound category.

Cop Third In Row Henning gave MacMurray its third championship in a row for the afternoon with a slim 3-2 count over Western's Jack Hughes in the 152 pound bracket. Hughes had a takedown and Henning an escape to give the Western man a 2-1 match point advantage, but Henning had over two minutes extra riding time, for an extra pair of points, and the win. This victory tied the team count up the Highlanders at 66-61 with WIU, and gave Henning a personal 14-2 count for the season. Kolb made it four straight for the Clan at 160 pounds by taking a 10-7 edge over Crail of Eastern Illinois, to give Mac a 71-68 lead over Western, but two Leathernecks and two WIU wins in the final four matches spoiled MacMurray hopes for a win.

Norm Lovelace decided Mac's Jack Jepson 10-5 in the 167 pound match to tie it up at 71 for Western, but the Leathernecks missed a chance to go ahead when Larry Kanke of Eastern recorded a 3-1 decision at 177 pounds over WIU's Doug Peterson. Lovelace wrestled the final 36 of his match despite an injury, to preserve the victory.

Lincoln Land Junior College Proposition Wins Voter Approval

The formation of Lincoln Land Junior College District was approved by voters in eight central Illinois counties, including portions of Sangamon, Cass and Morgan, Saturday.

According to unofficial reports, the proposition passed in both incorporated and unincorporated areas, 8,809 to 6,122.

A break-down of the vote shows that voters in the incorporated area approved the issue with 5,045 yes votes cast, 3,350 nos. In the rural (unincorporated) areas, the measure passed 3,764 to 2,772.

An official canvass of votes was underway Saturday night with complete totals for all areas expected to be available Monday.

The referendum authorized the levying of a tax of .15 for educational purposes and .04 for building and land acquisition.

The new district includes all or parts of Sangamon, Cass, Morgan, Menard, Christian, Logan, Macoupin and Montgomery counties.

A seven-member school board, which will determine the site at which the junior college will be located, is expected to be elected within sixty days.

Local Woman Dies Of Accident Injuries

Mrs. Edna Workman, 54, of rural Jacksonville, injured in a two-car crash on Illinois 78 near Havana Thursday, passed away at 8:15 p.m. Friday at Mason District hospital in Havana.

Mrs. Workman was a passenger in a car driven by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Workman, 27, of Chandlerville. Police said the Workman auto and another, driven by Mrs. Bonnie Toncray, 35, of Kilbourne, met head-on on a snow-slick stretch of pavement south of Havana.

Mason County Coroner Richard Hurley said high winds, in combination with blowing snow and dust, made driving extremely hazardous at the time the accident occurred.

The injured, including both drivers, the elder Mrs. Workman and her grandson, David, two, were taken to Mason District hospital by ambulance.

Hospital authorities said Saturday that Mrs. Toncray had been released. Still undergoing treatment at the hospital are Mrs. Mary Workman and her son.

Mrs. Edna Workman was born in Azenville March 4, 1912; daughter of Roy and Ethel Mobly Davis. She was married in Havana Aug. 17, 1934 to Ivory Workman, who survives.

Also surviving are four daughters: Mrs. Dorothy Gosnell of Baylis, Mrs. Wanda Brown of Winchester, Mrs. Joyce Michaels of Virginia and Miss Sandra Workman, at home; four sons: Bobbie Workman of Winchester, Edward of Chandlerville, John of Pittsfield and Ivan, Virginia and 21 grandchildren.

Mrs. Workman also leaves five sisters: Mrs. Joe McAllister of Mercedosa, Mrs. Frances Nichols of Jacksonville, Mrs. Inola Dobber of Rushville, Mrs. Kathryn Stout, Kingston Mines and Mrs. George Sweet, Virginia. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Cline Funeral Home. Burial will be in Azenville North cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home from 7:30-9 p.m. Monday.

'Religion In Life' Week Opens At IC

A four-day "religion-in-life" week begins today at Illinois College with lectures, seminars, motion pictures, receptions, and discussion hours featuring Rev. Carl S. Dudley, the first white pastor of Berea Presbyterian Church in St. Louis. All activities are open to the public, according to Chaplain W. Robert McClelland.

The Omaha church-integration television documentary, "A Time for Burning," will open the week at 8:30 p.m. this evening in Crispin Lecture Hall. Robert Myers, a senior from Savannah, Ill. who is chairman of the religion-in-life week committee, will lead a discussion on the filmed documentary at 9:30 p.m. tonight.

On Monday at 10 a.m. in Rammelkamp Chapel, Rev. Dudley will speak on "Order in the Court" as an introduction to the week's theme, "The People versus God—A Trial." At 12:30 a faculty seminar panel will discuss "Change" in Jones Lecture Hall.

On Tuesday in Rammelkamp Chapel the 10 a.m. address by Rev. Dudley will be entitled "Disorder in the Court." At 12:30 a student seminar panel will discuss "Change" in Jones Lecture Hall.

"Berea is destined to be a new kind of Protestant church where integration means more than mixing colors. It mixes industrial workers with college students and low-income families with rich, and integrate all in a Christian fellowship," Dudley says.

In the past, according to Dudley, Protestants fled from the core of the city. Fifty-two Protestant churches closed, merged, or relocated out of St. Louis between 1930 and 1960. Of some 43 churches in the Mill Creek Valley before demolition began, Berea is the only one that stayed.

With the return of interest in the central city and the completion of new facilities, Berea Church has grown larger than at any time in its nearly seven decades.

Members of the 1967 Illinois College religion-in-life week committee are chairman Bob Myers, senior from Savannah, Ill.; Patricia Asuncion, junior from Chicago; Donna Bessecker, senior from Lexington, Mass.; Ben Birdsall and Carol Brayshaw Birdsall of Jacksonville; Jean Ewert, sophomore from St. Paul, Minn.; Harry Hunt, senior from Roodhouse, Ill.; Phil Snowden, Junior from Vermont, Ill.; and adviser Chaplain W. R. McClelland.

PEDESTRIAN HURT IN HIT AND RUN

Two Jacksonville residents suffered minor injuries in separate accidents on city streets early Saturday morning.

A pedestrian, 38-year-old Paul Young of 1056 South Clay, received bruises and abrasions when struck by a car at about 12:30 a.m. at the corner of Morton and South Clay. Young told officers he was crossing Morton when knocked to his knees by an eastbound car that failed to stop. No description of the car was given.

About ten minutes later, police were notified that a pickup truck struck a utility pole in front of 1039 South Clay. The driver of the truck, 18-year-old Joseph P. Stephenson of 1225 South Clay was apparently dazed by the mishap but was able to walk to his home about two blocks away. His truck had to be towed to a local garage.

Fire Destroys One Story Home North Of City

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a rural Jacksonville residence, between 9:30 and ten o'clock this morning.

The one - story frame house was located on route one, about five miles northwest of the city, and sat about one-quarter of a mile back from the road. The home was owned by Charles Morris, also of route one, and was the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Lois McKean and her two children.

Mrs. McKean said no one was in the house at the time, as she and her children had been staying with her father during the past few days.

The flames were first spotted by a neighbor and Mrs. McKean was notified shortly before ten o'clock. She said the blaze had gained much headway when discovered, and no fire department was summoned.

All furniture, clothing and other possessions in the house were lost. The only thing left standing was a chimney.

Mrs. McKean said she and her children have some clothing at her father's home.

Findley Names School Grants In 13 Counties

Congressman Paul Findley stated Saturday that he has been notified of the granting of almost $1,835,000 to school districts in 13 central Illinois counties under the Title I elementary and secondary education act.

In a telegram, the Pittsfield Republican said the grant awards were made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, office of Education.

The authorized funds are to be used in special programs for children classified under the law as educationally disadvantaged, and included under the state allotment formula.

Included in the grants is $114,058 for school districts in Morgan County and allotments between $47,000 and $458,000 for school districts in Adams, Jersey, Brown, McDonough, Calhoun, Cass, Pike, Greene, Sangamon, Hancock, Schuyler and Scott Counties.

Conduct Rites For Mearl Kern

Funeral services for Mearl E. Kern were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Salem Lutheran church with the pastor, Reverend Herbert C. Rose, officiating.

Roy Lovelock was the organist. Leon Gierke and Elmer Kleinschmidt served as ushers.

75 Years Ago

Mule Drawn Street Car Carried First South Side Circle Members To Meetings

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the South Side Circle was quietly observed at a meeting Friday, Feb. 17th, at Hamilton's. Mrs. Lloyd Magill was the hostess. This meeting, originally set for the first Friday of the month was cancelled because of bad weather. No special celebration was planned as so many members were unable to participate.

Mrs. Ethel Strawn presided over the business meeting with routine reports heard. Two former members of the Circle have passed away prior to the last meeting, Mrs. Lillian Scott and Mrs. Belle Keller.

Mrs. Earl Underbrink presented the program, Seventy-Five Years with the South Side Circle. She quoted from an old Morgan County Atlas:

"The South Side Circle was organized in February, 1892. The object of the Circle was to read together and study the works of Charles Dickens. After a few months it was decided to make a study of History and Literature."

"Its membership is limited to thirty and the only other Woman's Club older than the South Side Circle is Sorosis, which was the first literary society for women and was organized in November of 1868."

Break The Monotony Excerpts from a paper, Memphis, written in 1936 by Mrs. Mary Weber, a charter and lifetime member, were read and in which she recalled how three young matrons, living far out on South Main street (which then was just a group of houses outside the city limits) often expressed a desire to do something that would promote more sociability among the neighbors and have one day a week to look forward to that would break the monotony of their everyday lives.

Bell Ringing Mule At that time South Jacksonville was the "country." There were no walks, paved streets or lights, no mail service, telephones or radios and the only means of transportation was a mule-drawn street-car with 30 minute service from each end of the line.

In winter the floor of the car was strewn with straw to keep feet from freezing during the trip into the city. The mule was ornamented with a brass bell suspended from its neck to warn awaiting passengers of the approaching car. So it was really up to these women to provide their own entertainment.

Study Dickens The Circle was organized in January with 12 members present. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution, assess dues of 25 cents and choose a name, color and flower for the club. The name was The South Side Circle, the colors pink and white and the flower, the pink rose. The first meeting was the first Friday the following February and after a purchase of a set of Charles Dickens' works a librarian was chosen and the new club came into being.

1893 World's Fair In 1893 the Chicago World's Fair was substituted for many of the programs and later more on history and literature and topics of the day were added to the routine.

Debate Sorosis In 1896 the club was challenged to a debate with Sorosis on World Universal Suffrage Better Our Condition. The conclusion of the debate was that women would lose much of their femininity if they were to go around "politicizing," as it was just too masculine.

In 1897 the club joined the College Hill club in a petition to the mayor for a curfew law and curfew bell.

Many interesting headlines were brought out in the paper. The airship, the flying machine and in 1912 with newspaper headlines exploiting the first aerial mail delivery when Glen Martin flew over California in a pusher-type plane he constructed and delivered the first bag of mail by dropping the bag to a waiting postman. He startled the world with his prophecy that, "In the future aeroplanes will not only carry the mail but even passengers and freight."

Motor Age Then came the "motor age." When the first member attended a meeting, coming by automobile, each member expressed the hope she might live to see the day they would have an automobile to ride around in.

World War One By 1917 the programs reflected the trend of public thinking toward war. With such programs as Preparedness, War and Peace, The American Navy, The Red Cross and the possibility of military training in schools. In 1918 the 25th anniversary was celebrated but uppermost in the minds of all members was "do your bit." Programs were suspended and time spent knitting. Brought once again to light were Hoover cards, meatless and wheatless days and registration day for women and substitutes for flour and sugar. The latter proved a hardship to the hostess.

Flu Epidemic With the terrible flu epidemic, which struck every family, meetings were suspended from September 1918 until January 1919.

Anniversaries The 30th anniversary was observed at the home of Mrs. J. G. Strawn in 1922. The 40th

Entertain For Senior Maids Of Beaux Arts Ball

The nineteen Senior Maids to make their bows at this year's Beaux Arts Ball, and their mothers, were delightfully entertained at a Tea Saturday afternoon, February 18th at the lovely home of Mrs. Jack S. Mathews.

All are mothers of this year's Senior Maids and Mrs. Hamm is current and for the past several years, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Art Association of Jacksonville.

Mrs. William Freeman is again this year serving as co-ordinator for the Ball and will be assisted by Mrs. Edwin R. Cisne. They are pictured at left with Mrs. Freeman on the right. They and other committee chairmen discussed with the Senior Maids and their mothers the many preparations necessary for the 1967 Ball and Coronation which will be held Saturday, April 15th.

Armstrong-Davis CWF Group Meets At Sullivan Home

Armstrong - Davis CWF Group of Central Christian Church met Tuesday morning, February 21 at the home of Mrs. Lee Sullivan, Jr., 1015 W. State Street. Mrs. Sullivan served coffee and rolls from her dining table. She was assisted by Mrs. Paul Marshall. There were fourteen members of the group present.

Mrs. Cloyd Wilson provided music as the group assembled. Mrs. Lyle Davis, assistant leader, presided. Miss Barbara Colvin had devotions. Silent prayer was observed for Miss Martha Bateman who was hospitalized Tuesday morning. A lighted candle signifying Friendship burned during which time the offering was dedicated. Mrs. Davis closed the devotional period with prayer.

Announcements were made. The March general meeting will be held jointly with the Men's Fellowship. Mrs. Sullivan reported on the World Day of Prayer.

Mrs. Russell Armstrong gave the lesson from the book "Long Forks," which will be studied January through June.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Alva Stainforth, 15 Book Lane. Assistant hostess will be Mrs. Ben Minor.

Nepotism In Congress

The case of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has had various ramifications, one of which is renewed interest in the question of nepotism in Congress. Though Powell's wife was on his payroll for an exceptionally high amount, more than $20,000 a year, numerous other congressional wives receive substantial sums.

A survey shows that three of them were paid more than $10,000 during 1966, while six got from $7,000 to $9,000. Three others reportedly went on their husbands' office payrolls late last year at $1,200 a month. Other relatives — sons, sisters, brothers-in-law — are paid from congressional funds.

There are strong arguments against an outright ban on nepotism such as Rep. Neal Smith of Iowa has introduced—a ban that would extend to the entire federal government. In some instances, a congressional wife or other relative is an able assistant whose capabilities are put to excellent use in the public interest.

There also are good arguments, however, for some sort of control over nepotism in Congress. There should at very least be some means of assuring that relatives on the payroll of a senator or representative do the work for which they are hired. Perhaps each house should maintain a committee whose function would be to review congressional hiring and guard against abuse of privilege. Nepotism, with some exceptions, is not desirable. Congress should move to hold it to a minimum.

'Potentiation' Peril

Spare a little time to reflect on "potentiation." That is a word used by pharmacists to describe the dangerous and sometimes lethal interplay between drugs that are harmless when properly used. Taken in combination without medical advice, otherwise beneficial drugs may spell finish for the user.

When considering such a matter, nothing helps like examples. Some were provided by Frederick M. Garfield, deputy director of the FDA's Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, at a recent conference.

Said Garfield: "A patient can be taking tranquilizers for nerves and take a sleeping pill at night. He might never wake up." And he said further:

"A person can be taking tranquilizers, catch a cold and dose himself with over-the-counter antihistamines he sees advertised. That can be very dangerous, too." He and other experts are particularly concerned about the "potentiation" that may occur when one combines barbiturates with a few alcoholic drinks. The alcohol may lethally heighten the effect of the sleeping pills.

A word to the unwary, like a word to the wise, may be sufficient. We hope so. When using drugs, even some commonly sold without prescription, it is good sense to consult a doctor before venturing to combine them. "Potentiation" can be deadly.

Hard-Sell Job For LBJ... Keep Teacher Corps Alive

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Struggling along on a pitifully thin fiscal diet of $7.5 million for the current year, the National Teacher Corps probably will just quietly wither away if it does not get supplemental money in a few months.

President Johnson is asking Congress for $12.5 million to keep the corps alive and growing. A hostile, suspicious Congress seems ill-disposed to ward voting anything like that sum.

Without something close to that total, the $36 million the President requested for the corps in his new budget for fiscal 1968 is a meaningless fairy tale figure.

The House is the big stumbling block and, with its 47 new Republican members, it is more conservatively weighted than the body which last October reluctantly accepted $7.5 million for the corps. The House itself had voted no funds at all for the program.

Congressional concern over the Teacher Corps is that it is, or could become, a weapon for the federal control of education. Southerners have seen it as potentially one more lever against racial segregation in their schools.

In its presently rather skeletal condition, the corps consists of something over 1,225 men and women who are willing and eager to undertake the teaching of disadvantaged children across the nation.

The immediate financial objective is to sustain their training program and start another 2,500. The President's call for $36 million beginning July 1 would allow further enlargement to nearly 6,000 corps members.

Among the present enrollees there are 262 veteran, certified teachers who, on the average, have taught in slum schools five years each. The rest are teacher-interns who serve under guidance of the veteran teachers on teaching teams which range in size from three to 10 but most commonly are around four to six members.

Corps managers describe the undertaking as a work-study program, with members spending part of their time in and around needy schools and the remainder studying at a nearby university. Interns are invariably college graduates who point toward a master's degree and state teacher certification.

Right now they serve in 275 schools with the aid of some 50 university training centers in 29 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Two-thirds of the corps members are in urban areas, even though more than half of the school systems involved in the program are rural.

The corps gets around 60 new applications from interested people every day, but these will come to naught without new training funds.

To avoid the death of the program by April or May, the President and others plainly must persuade skeptical lawmakers that the corps is not a device for federal control. The White House recently has been the scene of urgent talks.

Corps leaders insist that, in practice, the program has been strictly the creature of state and local authorities — that there is no sort of floating squad of teachers who can be assigned anywhere in the country or who would in any way disrupt the working of local school programs.

Federal administrators have had no trouble collecting more than 50 endorsements of the program from school superintendents, principals and state education officials in places where the Teacher Corps is functioning.

The need for help, properly managed under watchful state eyes, is evidently immense. Last fall, Los Angeles school authorities looking at the troubled Watts and other areas said they had 500 classrooms where teachers had not been assigned by opening day. Untold thousands of teachers want no part of the hazards and frustrations of teaching in disadvantaged areas.

The local and state endorsements, which include a few from

There is nothing amazing in the fact that we get tired. The New Testament reports a night of bad fishing after which the men were tired. They were washing their nets, and grumbling as tired people have a habit of doing. These were the men whom Jesus challenged to go fishing again. They took the dare, and came home excited because they had had success.

We might remember that just now. Why keep on trying for nuclear disarmament? Why try to negotiate for peace? Why try to end racial and ethnic tensions? Try any of these and you're bound to get tired.

- It doesn't take much of a person to get tired. It DOES take a person of great faith to be persistently adventurous.
- It doesn't take much of a church to be tired. It DOES take a church of great faith to be creatively adventurous.
- It doesn't take much of a country to get tired. It DOES take a nation of great faith to be morally adventurous.

If we expect leaders of the nations to continue to talk instead of blowing up the planet, we ought to keep at it locally. There are enough racial, ethnic and social situations in any neighborhood to keep us talking and working. There are enough defeats to be tempted to quit trying. Why keep on fishing for a big idea, when you have little to show for it but empty nets?

And yet, it has been that brave company in every generation who lose themselves in the greatness of the cause, who make one forget to be tired. These can be wearying days, with enough to make us cry in despair. "Why fish?"

Those men who fished for justice and truth and honor in other generations have made it possible for us to know some-

What Should Elevator Managers Do About High Moisture Corn?

Should grain elevators accept corn with a moisture content higher than 23 per cent?

This question was asked recently by Joseph E. Bailey of Cargill, Inc., in Minneapolis. In special grain-marketing sessions of the 9th Agricultural Industries Forum he pointed out that very-high-moisture corn will sometimes stay in good condition for a few days. But more often, 23 per cent moisture corn will be near spoiling when it is received and will be sample-grade before it gets into a dryer.

The problem is aggravated by the fact that these very high moistures sharply cut drying capacity of the elevator, Bailey said. The elevator manager must then realize that he is really buying sample-grade corn, or turn away customers.

"To refuse to unload a farmer with 27-percent-moisture corn is to precipitate trouble," Bailey noted. "The next day, the corn is likely to be red hot and sour. Nobody will buy it." Bailey pointed out that there are many important reasons why a producer wants or needs to get into the field with his sheller at the earliest possible time — his fall plowing plans, the need to stretch out the hours he uses his sheller, weather and market conditions, and his efforts to avoid field losses.

Severe Penalties But offsetting these circumstances is the fact that he is surely adding an extra 6 to 10 cents per bushel in drying costs, plus the danger that condition losses may cost another 30 to 50 cents per bushel.

Bailey suggested the following program as one that might work well for both the producer and elevator operator:

The elevator would provide drying capacity at a 5-percent reduction equal to about half of its daily unloading capacity. The elevator would also provide aerated storage space for about half of its two- or three-week unloading capacity.

Quota Basis Possible During the ripening period, the manager would take daily moisture tests in the field. Whenever corn moisture content was below 30 percent, the elevator manager would make agreements with individual producers to accept a daily volume of corn equal to about half of the elevator's normal, one-day drying capacity, based on a 5-percent reduction. The elevator operator would accept no corn with a moisture content higher than 23 percent. But he would unload on arrival all corn of 23-percent moisture content or less.

The elevator manager would carefully calculate the safe-quantity limit and storage life of all the 20- to 23-percent corn that he can hold before drying, and would not accept more of this corn than his dryer could handle within safe time-limits. If arrivals of 20- to 23-percent corn looked as though they might exceed his drying capacity and storage, he would ship the excess to a terminal, or refuse it.

Poor Risks Bring Losses In boxcar shipments of any corn of more than 18-percent moisture, he would trace the cars and rush them to their destination. The manager would dry 23-percent-moisture corn down to the 17-percent level, and then store it in aerated bins or ship it in order to help dryer capacity. When corn with a moisture content of 20-percent or less begins to arrive, he would sort and store until the dryer catches up on corn of all higher moisture contents.

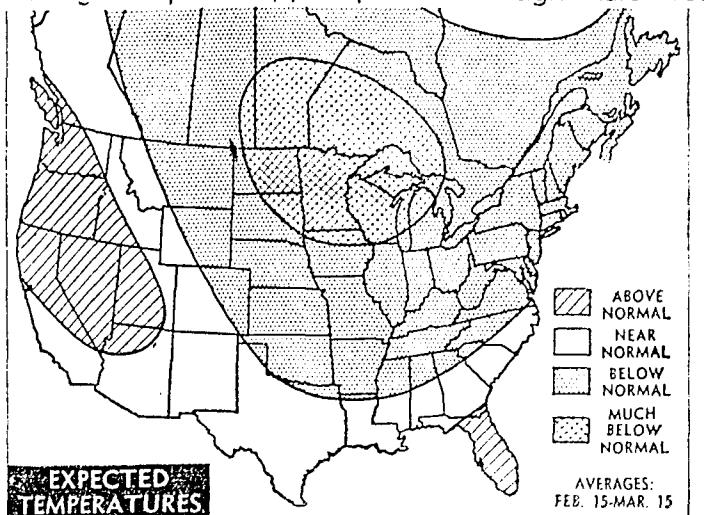

Bailey added that operators shouldn't depend entirely on their past experiences in planning. Every crop shows special characteristics and needs special handling.

While every possible facility must be provided for quick and efficient service, Bailey said that operators should remember that taking poor risks just to get the crop in is likely to cause losses for someone — either in the form of an unhealthy or bankrupt elevator, or in ruinous discounts to the producer.

Mixed March

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecasts of average temperature, precipitation through March 15.

Temperatures will vary on each side of the Continental Divide from mid-February to mid-March, the Weather Bureau reports. Below seasonal normals are expected east of the Divide, while above normal is expected west of the Divide in the Great Basin and the Northwest.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over western portions of the Northern Plains, and from the central plains eastward through the Middle Mississippi Valley to the Appalachians and northward to the Great Lakes. Subnormal is expected in northern and central parts of West Coast states.

Worksheet May Help Decide On Program

Farmers who are considering the effect that the 1967 Feed-Grain Program might have on net incomes may want to complete one of the University of Illinois' budget worksheets, says U. of I. farm management economist Duane E. Erickson.

The budget worksheets for analyzing the choices of the 1967 Feed-Grain Program are available in farm advisers' offices. Farmers who have not yet made a decision on whether to participate in the 1967 Feed-Grain Program may find the budget worksheet a useful farm-business-planning tool to use in comparing the estimated income versus the variable costs of the program choices, Erickson says.

Data from the ASCS on feed-grain bases, projected yields, price-support-payment rates, diversion payments, (applying to bases less than 25 acres), and conserving bases are needed in using this farm-business-planning tool. Information from ASCS form 477 (mailed to farmer) can be transferred to the budget worksheet to help determine income under participation. An example is included to illustrate the use of the budget worksheet. In using the budget worksheet, Erickson points out that farmers need to make three major judgments: (1) expected yields of crops, (2) expected variable costs of producing crops, and (3) expected market prices of crops.

A well-kept set of farm records will provide information on the first two judgments. If a complete farm record is not available, variable costs of crop production can be obtained from a table in the budget worksheet. Market supply and demand conditions in 1967 and 1968 will determine the third judgment. Price estimates in the example have been used to illustrate the worksheet's use.

In addition, the 1967 Feed-Grain Program worksheet lists other items to consider in the final choice on participation. Among these considerations are storage space, amount of livestock produced, plans for future crop and livestock production, soil conservation and fertility, and amount of labor available.

Questions on specific program provisions may occur in using the budget worksheet. Erickson advises that you call or see the local ASCS official between now and the March 3 deadline, for answers to specific questions on program provisions.

Soviet Sunflower Oil Crowds US Soybeans Out Of Iran Market

BY WILLIAM W. ALLEN

TEHERAN, IRAN — Russia has just invaded the Iranian market in edible oils and has thrown the American soybean out on its proverbial ear. The object, propaganda; the tool, price.

Until a few weeks ago, Iranian oil processors who make salad and cooking oils and processed hydrogenated shortening, had been buying American soybean oil for about $270 a ton. In the closing weeks of 1966, the Soviet Union came into the Iranian market peddling sunflower oil for $35 a ton less than the Americans were getting for soybean oil. The result, of course, was that the Iranians changed suppliers and an American soybean oil outlet which used some 65,000 tons of oil a year has disappeared. So, American farmers lost the market which has been buying $21 million worth of American farm products.

Purpose of the Soviet move can only be guessed since the Russians aren't in the habit of publicizing their motives. Most informed observers here in the capital of the ancient Kingdom of Persia believe that the Russians are using economic tools to accomplish propaganda motives.

Since the end of World War II, the Russians have made repeated efforts to take over the country which share a common border with the Soviet Union. After the failure of the coup attempted by Premier Mossadegh after the end of World War II, the Shah of Iran returned to power. The Russians immediately began besieging the Iranians with propaganda, attempting to court the friendship of the Persians but the Iranians became and the friendship the Iranians became to the United States.

A Record Harvest? Now, the Russians are trying commerce as their entree into the affairs of Iran. The trend has been, both here and in other countries in the Middle East, that the Soviet Union enters a market the principal goal of capturing the market regardless of price. If American soybean oil would drop in price, the Russians would undoubtedly drop their sunflower oil price in order to maintain the $35 differential. Although reports on Russian agriculture are unavailable, it is generally known in agricultural trade circles that the Russian grain crop in 1966 was a new record. The five-year plan for agriculture started under Khrushchev has begun to pay off with an assist from the weatherman who provided good growing conditions for many farmers in the Soviet Union.

The move to capture the Iranian market began last October when the Russians began selling oil by way of Rotterdam at $31 less than the American soybean oil was bringing. Since last October, American shipments have dwindled and now virtually no American soybean oil is finding its way into the Iranian market.

Refineries For Iran? Illinois farmers participating in the Farm Bureau-sponsored Around-the-World Trade and Production Tour learned of the situation here from the American agricultural attache, C. S. Stephanides. Stephanides reported to the mission here that the only way for the American farmer to recover the Iranian edible oil market is to make another attack. Iran needs industry, Stephanides explained. The aggressive Shah of Iran is working hard to improve his country's economy. If American business were to team up with Iranian interests to build soybean crushing plants here, the American soybean could be shipped and processed here in Iran.

The advantage, as Stephanides sees it, is that soybeans could be sent to Iran as a raw material and would not be subject to import duties levied against oils whether American soybeans or Russian sunflower.

More Poultry Raised Meat produced in the operation could be sold to the expanding market in the Middle East for livestock and poultry feed. For example, the Iranian poultry industry is booming and the poultry feed is mounting. Improvements in the Iranian livestock industry are coming and this, too, would provide outlets for the meat. Nearly Pakistan also uses soybean meal and could become a customer.

Stephanides met with William J. Kuhfuss, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, the state-wide Farm Bureau, and leader of the trade and production mission. With Kuhfuss was Dwight Davis, IAA associate secretary of marketing, who heads up the IAA program in foreign trade development.

And so the economic battle goes on. The United States, now the loser in the fight to sell American soybeans abroad in Iran, may well come up with another wrinkle.

Illinois Grain Announces Office Changes

John P. Doherty, 43, of Warsaw Woods, Mo., has been named executive merchandiser of Illinois Grain Corporation, according to Bernard L. Adomait, IGC vice president and general manager.

Doherty succeeds A. Joseph Cramblit who resigned to enter his own grain futures business. Doherty presently serves as south central regional manager for Archer - Daniels - Midland Company, in St. Louis, Mo. He is responsible for the firm's river stations at Joliet, Morris, Ottawa, Spring Valley, Peoria, Ill., Burlington, Iowa and Memphis, Tenn.; a country elevator at Clinton, Mo., as well as the J and O Company at Decatur, Ill., and Fernandez, Inc. at Springfield.

BRIMFUL Pork Evaluation Day Monday At Woodson

By Jim Brim

If you don't like the weather in Illinois — wait a while and it will change. You still may not like it but it will be different.

We talk about it, discuss it, abuse it, ridicule it and do less about the weather than any of our crop production — environmental factors.

We are learning much about the weather, learning to live with it and take advantage of it and in some ways we may, in the future, learn to control it.

But for the time being we are at the mercy of the weather. From the large amount of snow that fell in the Chicago area and ice to the east of us, I think people learned two things:

1. That in time of emergency it is important to help each other — pool resources.
2. That no matter how well organized, self-propelled, automated, etc., the weather can quickly reduce man's progress to a crawl.

Speaking of weather, the first thing I think of is rain — moisture — precipitation. And we are a little behind with it.

Long term records show these average amounts of rainfall in the Jacksonville area:

Jan. 1.92; Feb. 1.57; March 2.45; April 3.38; May 4.33; June 3.93; July 3.05; Aug. 2.45; Sept. 4.14; Oct. 2.84; Nov. 2.38; Dec. 1.74.
Yearly average 35.63.
Let's hope our rainfall is more evenly distributed this year than last.

Now you should Encourage young (and old) students.
Dress sensibly.
Refuse to gossip.
Poison rats.
Read.
Top out hogs.
Write your Congressman.
Read the Bible.
Repair equipment.

Order your nursery stock. We need trees of all kinds to replace those that are dying. It's quite a joy to watch trees and shrubs grow and become beautiful.

personnel changes. Adomait said that James Hastings, manager of the IGC elevator at Havana, has been named manager of the IGC elevator at Creve Coeur. He succeeds Frank Ranch, who resigned February 22 following three years on the IGC staff. Ranch served as manager of the Creve Coeur elevator and as IGC member services director. Harold Finefield and Don Wilkey will continue to coordinate member services activities for the grain firm.

Succeeding Hastings as manager of the Havana operation is Delbert Aden, manager of the IGC elevator at Naples. Shifted to Aden's former position at Naples is Fred Reeves, assistant manager of the IGC elevator at Hennepin.

Morgan County Pork producers, and all who are interested in the production and marketing of pork are invited to attend the 4th annual "Market Hog Evaluation Day," which will be held at Woodson Sale Barn, Monday, February 27.

Farm Adviser George Trull has reminded producers that the purpose of this event is entirely educational. Farmers will have an opportunity to get important carcass cutoff data on their hogs that they are producing. "Evaluation Day" is sponsored by the Morgan County Pork Producers Association in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service.

Richard Simms, Area Extension Livestock Specialist, and Harry Russell, University of Illinois, will be in charge, assisted by representatives of Hunter Packing Company. Grading and judging will start at 9:30 a.m. A judging contest will be held at 1:00 p.m. for both youth and adults. Trophies will be awarded to winners.

There are classes for both single barrows and pens of five, of both commercial and purebred hogs. All hogs will be slaughtered and sold on grade basis. All will be measured to determine length, back fat thickness, and carcass grade.

The second phase of the program, will be a follow-up meeting, to be held Monday evening, March 6, at the Cooperative Extension Center in Jacksonville. This meeting will include announcement of high scoring carcasses and a pork cut-out for the club's annual radio demonstration given by Don broadcast, scheduled this year on March 25.

4-H Club Activities

The Concord Busy Bees 4-H club met Feb. 13 at the home of Mrs. Roy Nickel with Emily Kircher as presiding officer.

Talks were given by Emily Kircher, Janet Crawford and Dona Nickel.

New officers are president, Emily Kircher; vice president, Dona Nickel; secretary, Kay Wankel; treasurer, Rose Ann Nickel; reporter, Donna Hatfield; program chairman, Anita Elliott; recreation chairman, Paula Kelly; song leader, Rebecca Francis; federation leaders, Emily Kircher and Dona Nickel; Alternates, Anita Elliott and Kay Wankel; assistant, Diane Sims; safety chairman, Linda McDannald; assistant, Barbara Morris.

Talks were given by Bob Williams, Todd Burrus, Roger Lakamp, Mark Tiemann, Lee Burrus, Jo Ellen Joy and Ken-ny Rahe.

Demonstrations were presented by John Nienhiser, Pam March, Roger Nergenah, Gary Schone, Kenny Rahe and Paul Thier. Preparations are being made for the club's annual radio demonstration given by Don broadcast, scheduled this year on March 25.

PIONEER Corn will win for You

Just like it does in 1966 Official Illinois Tests

Again in 1966, Pioneer corn continued its "winning ways" by practically "running away" with the Official Illinois Corn Performance Tests.

Here's just a brief summary . . . that proves Pioneer's superior yielding and performance ability under official, unbiased tests.

PIONEER WINS NORMAL POPULATION TESTS

In the combined 2 & 3 year averages, at normal plant populations, Pioneer varieties not only won twice as many 1st places for high yield than all other corn companies combined . . . but won more 1st, 2nd and 3rd places for high yield than all other corn companies combined.

PLANT THICK? READ PIONEER'S RECORD

In the combined 2 & 3 year averages in the INCREASED PLANTING RATE TEST (22,000-24,000 plants) Pioneer varieties won more 1st, 2nd and 3rd places for high yields than all other corn companies combined. Here's proof, Pioneer can take the stress of thick planting.

59 Companies...Over 500 Varieties Competed in these Official Tests

Whatever your soil or season . . . whether you plant "thick", or at normal rates . . . Pioneer varieties will produce the TOP YIELD and PROFIT for YOU.

If you want to harvest a winner this Fall . . . fill your planter boxes this Spring with Pioneer Seed Corn.

Look Where You're Going

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

DOCKING IMMINENT FOR SPACECRAFT—This is how the Agena 10 appeared to command pilot John Young in the GT-10 prior to docking of the two during the 3-day space mission. The Agena motor is at left and the docking end of the Agena is at the right. The object extending from the top of the nose of the spacecraft is the docking bar.

Docking In Space—So far all the rendezvous and docking performed in space have been accomplished with the use of radar, at least until the Gemini spacecraft was as close to its target as shown above. Now Lockheed aircraft is conducting a study for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to see if rendezvous can be accomplished by sight alone with only the aid of range finders and telescopes.

The first step, naturally, will be to establish exactly what information astronauts would need to rendezvous and dock without the aid of radar. Dr. Sidney Seidenstein, Lockheed's project leader on the study says, "We know right now that for an astronaut to perform a rendezvous without the aid of complex on-board computers and ground supplied information, he must be able to sense visually such things as the distance between two vehicles and the speed of his approach to the target vehicle."

Next Step—The next step will be to examine what means are best for an astronaut to discover the information needed for rendezvous by optical means. The ability of humans to sense this information will be studied by experimentation and examination of previous research reports. Finally, Lockheed will determine what simple aids—such as telescopes, range finders, filters and grids—will be most useful in helping the astronaut orient himself in our environment.

In space, however, these familiar cues are either lacking or highly modified. (To Be Continued)

Dr. Seidenstein explained how Lockheed will draw on its previous studies in this research. "We have measured visual acuity as a function of optical distance and have examined the differences in visibility through a vacuum compared with that through atmosphere. We have also studied how the speed of a change of brightness affects a man's ability to see differences in brightness."

Viewing things in space is quite a bit different from viewing them on earth, as Dr. Seidenstein explained, "On earth we have a wide variety of backgrounds, light shadow, and other cues to help us judge distances and motion, all of which help us orient ourselves in our environment."

SMART PUP—FORT WORTH, Tex.: Can you believe? This smart baby pup found a bed and board in a dog food can. Seems that after dinner the pup, one of a litter of six chihuahuas only 14-days-old owned by a Fort Worth family, discovered the empty can and turned it into his private sleeping place.

Note From Reader

By Christine Hembrough

One of our readers writes:

Dear Junior Editor:

I see your name is Christine Hembrough. I get so many calls as to whose family you belong and I didn't know.

I was a Hembrough myself, and have kept a family history but the family is pretty widely scattered as there were so many of us so I may have missed some. If you don't mind I would be very much interested who your folks are and your grandparents.

Also, even if I am quite elderly I love to read and surely enjoy your columns in the Sunday paper.

Sounds like you will be a good journalist. The young folks have a gay time these days as we all did in our day and ages. Good old high school days will never be forgotten. I surely wish you the very best of luck in your line. I am sure you have a lot of readers. Keep up the good work.

As ever,

Mrs. Georgia H. Carter

My answer: Dear Mrs. Georgia H. Carter, First of all I would like to thank you for your letter, your compliments, beautiful stationery, and your sincere interest in me. Thanks a lot! Getting a letter from one of my readers is wonderful—and I love each and every one who writes.

THE CAVE MYSTERY

Part 3: Numb With Fear

Completely subdued and numb with cold fear the boys huddled against the wall as the light drew nearer. Then they looked up as a tall young man holding a lantern or miner's lamp over his head appeared in the doorway. For a moment he stood there with the light full on his features to reveal a head of straight black hair, black beady eyes and copper skin. An American Indian!

Although speechless and rather strange acting he carried no weapons. Ed and Benny of relief. Not even a tomahawk. And to ease the tension he was actually smiling as he stood with his arms folded across his chest in a gesture of friendliness and goodwill.

For a long anxious moment he remained as motionless and as silent as a tree. Then with a beckoning nod of his dark head he turned his back and moved in the direction of the tunnel.

Strange Silence

Although somewhat puzzled by the strange silence of this friendly man, the boys, nevertheless, followed him with confidence as he moved into the tunnel. Somehow they felt he could be trusted, and with each step close on his heels they trusted in him grew into assurance that he would lead them to safety.

Then at long last as they emerged from the cave the spotlight from a waiting car focused on them and a big heavyset man got out. Captain Dawson of the rescue squad. He clasped the tall young man's hand in a hearty handshake and then started home.

fixed Ed and Benny with a cold silent stare.

"If you think you've caused enough trouble for one night I'll take you home where you belong," he said finally, his voice cold and stiff. "And you young whelps can thank your lucky stars that while everybody else was dragging the river and the old mine pit I acted on a hunch and came up here to look for you."

Thank Charlie Too

Then turning to give the tall young man a friendly pat on the back the captain went on to say. "And you can thank Charlie too. Even though he's a bit handicapped and considered something of an outcast by some folks he's the only one of his tribe left that knows his way around in that old cave."

With understanding showing in their eyes the boys flashed Charlie a warm smile and waved a series of friendly gestures. They understood his strange silence now. He was simply unable to speak.

Ed looked around at Captain Dawson then to ask. "But how did you ever think to look for us here, sir? We didn't tell anybody about coming here or nothing?"

"You didn't have to," the captain said with a solemn nod. "Got lost in that big cave myself when I was a kid. But it wasn't Charlie that got me out. It was his father," he added with a grin.

He turned away then and the boys followed him to the car. They paused to wave a friendly farewell to Charlie and he waved back at them. Then they scrambled into the front seat with the burly Captain and started home.

Let's Go Birding

Goldfinches In Winter

By Emma Mae Leonhard

As we have mentioned earlier, our Common Goldfinch is a permanent resident; that is, it is with us during our four seasons. It doesn't, however, wear the same style of clothes the year round. In the winter the male wears a drabber coat, an olive-yellow one in place of its summer yellow one. It looks like the female in its summer and winter dress. It always shows black wings with white wingbars and a blackish notched tail.

Careless observers might think that they were seeing sparrows, but Goldfinches are smaller. Their roller-coaster flight punctuated with a simple "ti-dee-di-di" chatter also differentiates them from sparrows. Their summer song is canary-like. The Goldfinch is sometimes called the Yellowbird, Wild Canary, Shiner, or Thistle Bird. "Thistle Bird" is well earned, for it uses the thistle down in building its nest and feeds its babies with thistle seeds. When winter comes, it hangs around the thistle patches until the seeds are activity of Goldfinches.

exhausted. Sparrows don't fit in here.

Winter is an interesting time to observe our Common Goldfinches. They gather into flocks by the dozen or by the hundreds. They haunt the weedy fields and seedy marshlands; they also seek out the seed-bearing trees and bushes for their winter diet. On January 21 we saw a permanent demonstration of Goldfinch actions and habits in winter. As we were driving along the highway, we noticed telephone wires to our left literally filled with little drab birds like beads on a string—hundreds of them. For a short time they sat motionless and silent. We stopped and examined them with our binoculars. As we suspected, we learned that they were Goldfinches, and only Goldfinches. No sparrow nor starling broke the solid string of the Goldfinches.

Then Goldfinch activity began. The string of beads seemed to break. The finches, in ones or twos or groups, dropped off the wires; and roller-coasted down into the weed patch near by. The most of them were searching for weed seeds which had fallen on the ground under the wild grass and weeds; a few were riding the tops of the tall weeds and pecking at the seed pods. All of them were camouflaged in the tawny mass of the dead vegetation. Had we not happened on the spot when they were on the wires, we would have missed this winter activity of Goldfinches.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Mu Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Feb. 20 at the home of Mindy Moeller with Karen Stillflew as hostess.

In the absence of President June Hazelrigg, Vice President Karole Claussen presided. Co-chairmen Gloria Gray and Sharon Prewitt and their committee reported on the style show.

After the business session Delores Matthews presented a program and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Members present were Betty Means, Connie Massey, Sharon Prewitt, Barb Woodridge, Sue Willard, Glenda Reegan, Mindy Moeller, Linda Bionia, Karole Claussen, Alana Hudgens, Gloria Gray, Shelby Pennell, Glenda Callahan, Norma Wilner, Martha Varble and Karen Stillflew.

Fifteen members attended the regular meeting of Kappa Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority on February 6 at the home of Judy Regan. Preceding the meeting, members met at the back of the jail and left their rummage for the sale the following day.

It was announced the chapter will again be responsible for the back drop for the annual Founders' Day Banquet in May.

Initial plans were made for a spring rush party on March 6. A very interesting program on Etchings and Engravings was given by Mary Sue Farmer.

Following the meeting, sandwiches and punch were served by the hostess.

The February 20 meeting followed a tour of the Strawn Art Gallery which is showing prints from the Illinois State Museum. Fourteen attended.

Plans were completed for the spring rush party Mar. 6 at the home of Susan Ashby. Delicious refreshments were then served by the hostess.

Mrs. Eva Daniels and Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick entertained members of Xi Lambda chapter in the Daniels home Feb. 21st at a lovely Washingtonian Party. The hostesses were dressed in red, white and blue costumes. Bridge and prizes also followed the 'patriotic' theme.

Mrs. Donald Quay, president, conducted the business session with reports heard from Bernita Dodson, Mae Tomlin and Esther Ingoglia. Mrs. Ingoglia reported on the city council meeting of chapter vice presidents and told of plans for the upcoming Founders' Day to be held April 30th.

Prizes at bridge went to Alpha Quay, Mae Tomlin and Alvahlee McCarthy.

Delicious refreshments of frozen cherry salad with hot rolls, mints and coffee were served from place mats decorated with patriotic murals.

Delta Theta Tau

Sorority Gives $1,000 To Pathway

The Jacksonville Delta Nu chapter of Delta Theta Tau Sorority, Inc. presented to the Pathway School in the city, recently a check for $1,000, on behalf of the Epsilon Province. The Province is composed of 36 chapters in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Michigan and Arkansas. Pictured at the presentation are Mrs. E. W. Chumley, Mrs. Robert Rooker, faculty member, Mrs. R. J. Little, Mrs. Floyd Cox and Frank Harris, supervisor of the Jacksonville Branch of Children and Family Services.

The Epsilon Province convention was held in Danville, Illinois November 11, 12 and 13th. Each year chapters submit philanthropic projects at the convention which they feel worthy of financial help.

This year Delta Nu Chapter of Jacksonville submitted for consideration the name of Pathway School.

William Walsh, a volunteer worker at the Pathway School, showed slides of the school and answered questions of the delegates at the convention in Danville.

At the convention a year ago no definite philanthropic project was decided upon and the $500.00 contribution was carried over and added to this year's project, making a total of $1,000. After the Pathway School project, a vote was taken by the delegates and the $1,000 was awarded to Pathway School.

Pathway School was established September 19, 1964 by a group of parents of retarded children. These children do not qualify for public school classes for educable mentally handicapped.

As Delta Theta Tau Sorority, Inc., is strictly a philanthropic organization it has been the custom of Delta Nu, the local chapter, to make contributions yearly to various organizations.

In the past contributions have been made to Oaklawn Sanatorium, Passavant and Holy Cross Hospitals, the Big Brother and Big Sister organization and Pathway School.

Monies for these projects are raised through rummage sales, bake sales, tulip bulb sales and other money making projects.

Delta Nu has 25 members. On February 6th an initiation was held and six new members were brought into the chapter. Linda Donovan, June Etherton, Betty Hall, Olive Lein, Frances Little and Catherine Wright.

Time Is Topic In February For Tuesday Club

Tuesday Club members were entertained the afternoon of Feb. 21st at the home of Mrs. Leon Stewart. A delightful dessert was served by the hostess. Twenty-four members were present.

Mrs. Samuel Darley, president, opened the meeting and conducted the business session. Officers' reports were given by Mrs. Harold Patterson and Mrs. Ray Steinheimer.

Mrs. Jack Thomas gave an interesting program. The History of Timepieces. Time is a complex thing, the measurement of something one cannot see, feel, hear, taste or smell. Man has developed various devices to measure time. Such as the hour glass, used in early history. Another was the clepsydra, a water clock. The early Anglo-Saxons in England used the candle. Today the most modern clocks are electric.

A social hour followed the program.

Mound Club Entertained In Cooper Residence

Members and guests of Mound Woman's Country Club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Clyde Cooper for their February meeting.

Mrs. Harlan Mason, president, was in charge. Reports were made by Mildred Richardson and Mrs. Cooper. During roll call each member gave the name and description of a newly developed seed or bulb for spring planting.

Mrs. A. J. Stewart presented a program on the IFYE program, giving the history and some of the values derived. Many members related personal experience with exchange students who have been in local homes.

Refreshments were served from a beautiful table using appointments acquired from many countries. Joan Mason, presided at the coffee urn and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Herbert Mawson and Mrs. J. A. Suhling were guests.

VIRGINIA GROUP MAKES DONATION TO BLANKET FUND

VIRGINIA — The February meeting of the Woman's association was held at the First Presbyterian church with the new president, Mrs. Ray Cline presiding.

A cash donation was voted for the blanket fund drive to be held March 12. Blankets will be shipped overseas for needy families. Anyone having a blanket to donate may bring it to the March 12 meeting for shipment.

Miss Mamie Hageman presented the program, "Mission In a Changing World." Assisting were Mrs. Jeff Knight, who discussed Thailand; Mrs. Lawrence Dooling, Malaysia; and Mrs. David Cox, Indonesia. Miss Mary Sudbrink had devotions.

Here is a hand from an important team match of some years back in which South played against the mathematical percentages to produce a 1,530 point swing in favor of his side.

East won the spade lead and returned the ten spot. South saw no reason to finesse the jack. His whole problem was going to be with the jack of hearts. Therefore he took the king of spades and led a trump to dummy's ace. Then he proceeded to think for a long time.

South noted that six clubs would make irrespective of the jack of hearts but he was pretty sure that the other South would also be in six hearts. He was also pretty sure that the other South would make the normal play of cashing a second high heart. This South was inclined to make the same play. It would not be criticized if it failed, whereas a second round finesse against the jack of hearts would be severely criticized if it cost the slam. This didn't worry South. He wanted to win.

South thought long enough so that he could be sure that East and West would both be aware of his problem. Then South called for dummy's six of diamonds. East played the queen! South was on lead with the ace and played a low heart and called for dummy's nine.

South's reason for taking the unusual finesse lay in East's play of the queen of diamonds. East was not inclined to make unsound vulnerable overcalls and South was pretty sure that East held the guarded queen of diamonds. He also thought that East would falsecard once South had made sure that East knew what South's problem was. Of course, South would have looked might silly if that queen of diamonds had really been a singleton and East had held the jack of hearts.

Roseann Lindsey

WINCHESTER—Mr. and Mrs. George Lindsey of Winchester announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Roseann, to Rick Lippincott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lippincott of Pittsfield.

An April first wedding at St. Mark's Catholic church here is planned by the couple.

FAMILY NIGHT FOR LITERBERRY WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Literberry Woman's Club observed Family Night at their February meeting held at the Litter Baptist church. A carry-in dinner was enjoyed at 6:30 p.m.

Following the meal Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat presented Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowen of Jacksonville who gave an interesting program, accompanied by slides, regarding their trip to Scotland, England and Ireland in 1966.

Guests were, in addition to the Bowsens, Rev. Boston, Miss Elitha Boston, Miss Joan Petefish, Mrs. Ronald Bottens, Rick McGinnis, Fred Standley, John McGinnis, Lawrence Mallicoat, Coy Stice and Earl Myers.

Mrs. Warren Daniels will be hostess to the club in March. Members are asked to take cookies to the meeting. The cookies will be sent to Boys Town of Illinois, near Grafton.

Jean Palumbo

Mrs. Albert McGinnis, program chairman for Court Our Saviour, Catholic Daughters of America, announced Mrs. Jean Palumbo, representative of Patricia Stevens Career College and Finishing School in Chicago, will present the program at the annual potluck to be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 2nd, at the K. of C. Hall. The program is titled, You are Someone Special.

Mrs. Palumbo has an extensive background in modeling, lecturing, teaching, etc. For ten years she has worked with the U. of I. Cooperative Extension program at the Illinois State Fair clothing review. Her program is of interest to all women.

Mrs. Donald Blesse and Mrs. Robert Scanlan, co-chairmen for the potluck, state meat and dessert will be provided by the committee. Those attending are to take covered dish and ownable service. Reservations for the dinner must be made by February 28th with Mrs. Roger Jacques, Mrs. George Foster or Miss Agnes Teeley.

Mrs. James Rayburn, chairman, has released names of the winners of the annual poetry contest for children of Our Saviour's and Rott schools.

Grades 4, 5 and 6, Jody Schindler, first; Kathy Pine, second, and Lynn Clancy, third.

Grades 7, 8 and 9, Kim Newbold, first; Edward Preston, second, and Sharon O'Connor, third.

Grades 10, 11 and 12, Janet English, first; David Schmidt, second, and James Turner, third.

The winning poems will be submitted for state competition at the annual meetings of the C. D. of A. this summer.

REHABILITATION WORK REVIEWED BY HILLVIEW UNIT

HILLVIEW — Maude Norris reported on the unit's rehabilitation work when the Bryant-Thomas Auxiliary of Hillview met Feb. 21st in the home of Mrs. Arthur Powell. Twenty-six members and guests were present at the potluck luncheon.

During the business meeting conducted by Lorraine Powell, vice president, Mrs. Mary Smothers, Child's Welfare chairman, announced that a donation would be sent to a boy at the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Normal.

Bingo was enjoyed during the recreation period and refreshments were served. Mrs. Powell assisted the hostess.

Jones And Kehoe Vows Exchanged At Wesley Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wesley Jones are making their home at 227½ East Beecher avenue since returning from a short wedding trip following their February wedding.

Miss Mary Agnes Kehoe and Howard Wesley Jones were married the eleventh at the Wesley Chapel Methodist church. The Reverend A. W. Mathias performed the ceremony at a candlelight altar adorned with white glads and fern.

Mrs. Mildred Vasey was at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Kehoe, 1216 Park Place and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones, Jacksonville route two.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jones, brother and sister-in-law of the couple, attended the ceremony. Mrs. Jones wore green brocade with a matching headpiece. She carried a nosegay of mint green and white carnations.

James Jones and John Jones seated guests.

Mr. Kehoe gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white satin gown with full train. A jeweled crown held her veil of illusion and she carried white mums and white orchid with her white Bible.

The mother of the bride wore beige with black accessories and the groom's mother was in navy with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

At the reception, held at the church, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Charles Nunes, Mrs. T. P. Fornkhal, Mrs. Lyndall Surbeck and Miss Laura Jones assisted. The bride graduated from JHS in 1966 and from automation training in St. Louis, Missouri. She is employed at Central National Life Insurance Company. The groom graduated with the same high school class and is employed at J. Capps and Sons, Ltd.

Among the special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mooney and family of Peoria.

SACKETTES PLAN FUND RAISING PROJECTS

The Sackette Unit No. 14 at its frasca Feb. 20 discussed fund raising projects to benefit the Nurses' scholarship for the Department of Illinois. The money raised will be donated at the frasca held at the convention in Jacksonville this summer.

Lacy Stillwell, Snappiest, presided at the frasca held at the Amvet home. Plans were also discussed for entertaining out-of-town members of the unit and a potluck supper was tentatively agreed upon.

DISTRICT OFFER QUEST OF RNA AT HILLVIEW

HILLVIEW — The Royal Neighbors of America met Feb. 13 in Seely Hall with Oracle Lela Hubbard presiding. District Deputy Vera M. Hewitt of Jerseyville was a guest.

During the business session the charter was draped for Sella Patterson. The purchase of twelve new chairs was approved.

Announcement was made that at the next meeting Feb. 27 a social hour is planned and secret pals will be revealed. Becky Seely, Clara Hazelwood and Lillie Seely will be in charge of refreshments. Bingo will be played and prizes will be awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wesley Jones

NOAH ARNOLDS OF WHITE HALL TO CELEBRATE

WHITE HALL — Mr. and Mrs. Noah Arnold will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Feb. 26th. A carry-in dinner honoring the couple will be served at noon by members of the Calvary Baptist Church.

The couple was married Feb. 28, 1917 at Carrollton. They are parents of two daughters, Vesta, wife of James McCurley, and Velma, wife of Ivan Brogdon, both of White Hall. There are five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The couple reside on a farm near White Hall. Prior to retirement Mr. Arnold was employed at Western Cartridge Company at Alton and Passavant Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Arnold was also employed at Passavant.

White Hall News
Mr. and Mrs. Danny West-nedge became parents of a son born Feb. 23 at Passavant hospital, weighing 7 lb., 14 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Westnedge and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peters, of White Hall.

SELECTIONS INTERNATIONALES

More and more classrooms are being built in the nation's schools to accommodate the continuing flood of students. The above map shows the number of additional classrooms provided during the 1956-57 school year in each state. Most states built more "new" classrooms than the top figure indicates, but the "additional" classrooms figure was deduced by subtracting the number of classrooms abandoned in the same year from the number of new ones provided. Figures were not available for a few states, shown here with only the total classrooms listed. One state, Tennessee, built 739 new rooms, but abandoned 794, according to the United States Office of Education.

Egypt Taming The Nile

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Egypt's dreams of taming the Nile and saving the nation from flood and drought are nearing reality.

The floods, which once demolished townships and destroyed houses and crops, now ironically hold promise of prosperity.

The huge, Soviet-financed Aswan Dam, which is considered the backbone of the Egyptian national economy and one of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's top achievements, is in the final stages of construction.

Seven years have elapsed since the work began and the dam today controls most of Egypt's vital water. It will soon generate electric power.

According to official statements 80 per cent of the work on the dam has been finished. The dam now is 14 times higher than Giza's great Pyramids. When completed, the dam will be 17 times higher.

The work already completed includes the excavation of canals, construction of tunnels and the concrete structure of the power plant. The largest man-made lake in the world is rising behind the dam.

Most of the work is now concentrated on the water-tight joint between the dam core and the rock bed of the Nile. Simultaneously work on the power plant is moving rapidly ahead.

The first turbine has been installed and is scheduled to generate electric power in two months time. Two other turbines will be installed during this year along with transmission lines and substations.

The power station will have 12 turbines, each with a capacity of 175,000 kilowatts. The installation of all turbines is scheduled to be completed before 1970.

As the work on the dam approaches its end, the total number of workers and experts has dropped from 35,000 to 25,000. Officials say the number of Soviet technicians also has dropped from 1,800 when work on the dam started to 600 at present. They will be further reduced to 300 next year, officials say.

"We will keep no more than three Soviet experts to run the work in the powerhouse when the dam is finished," said Ibrahim Zaki, deputy minister for the dam.

Though the dam will guarantee for Egypt water needed for agricultural expansion and electric energy for industries, the wild growth of Egypt's population causes concern about the future.

Some experts estimate that the population, which jumps in Egypt by one million persons per year, already has outdistanced the agricultural yield to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

be expected from new lands which will be cultivated as a result of the dam.

To help curb the increase, Egyptian officials are energetically pushing a birth control campaign. But this takes time and there often is a traditional resentment to government interference in this area.

Nevertheless, the campaign goes on.

An estimated 43 million tons of dust settle over the United States each day, according to tanced the agricultural yield to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The Communists Next Door

CONSULATE U.S.S.R. PUBLIC SCHOOL NO. 249

REFUGEES FROM COMMUNISM ARE NEVER FREE FROM FEAR. EVEN HERE IN AMERICA, SOVIET SECRET POLICE CARRY OUT THEIR CAMPAIGN OF TERROR. YEARS AGO, THE SOVIETS HAD HEAD-QUARTERS OR CONSULATES IN OUR MAJOR CITIES...

IN 1948 A KIDNAPPED REFUGEE HELD PRISONER IN THE SOVIET NEW YORK CONSULATE MADE A BOLD LEAP FROM THE THIRD FLOOR. TO OKSANA KASENKINA FREEDOM WAS PRECIOUS. IT WAS WORTH TAKING THE CHANCE!

THE SOVIET AGENTS TRIED DESPERATELY TO DRAG HER BACK INSIDE BUT A NEW YORK POLICEMAN USED FORCE TO PREVENT HER RECAPTURE...

AN OUTRAGED AMERICA DEMANDED THAT SOVIET CONSULATES IN NEW YORK, LOS ANGELES AND SAN FRANCISCO BE CLOSED. UNDER MOUNTING PRESSURE THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT KICKED THE REDS OUT!

BY JUNE, 1964 THE HORROR OF THE KASENKINA CASE HAD BEEN FORGOTTEN BY U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS. THEY SIGNED WITH THE REDS A SOVIET CONSULAR TREATY... AN AGREEMENT TO OPEN NEW CONSULATES IN THE U.S.A.!

IN MARCH OF 1965, J. EDGAR HOOVER, HEAD OF THE FBI, TESTIFIED BEFORE A CONGRESSIONAL SUB-COMMITTEE THAT SIGNING OF THE SOVIET CONSULAR TREATY WAS "A CHERISHED GOAL OF THE SOVIET INTELLIGENCE SERVICES"...

HOOVER'S WARNING WAS IGNORED. SENATOR FULBRIGHT, CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, APPROVED THE TREATY AND IN AUGUST, 1965 ASKED FOR A VOTE BY THE SENATE...

AT THAT TIME, THE PATRIOTIC ACTION-PUBLICATION LIBERTY LETTER* ALERTED ITS 170,000 SUBSCRIBERS TO FLOOD THE SENATE WITH PROTESTS AGAINST THE TREATY. SENATE LEADER MIKE MANSFIELD SENSED THAT THE TREATY COULD NOT BE RATIFIED. HE RETURNED IT TO FULBRIGHT'S COMMITTEE.

* LIBERTY LETTER, $2-YEAR 300 INDEPENDENCE AVE. S.E. WASHINGTON, D.C.

SENATOR, I'M FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT. WE NEED YOUR VOTE ON THE SOVIET CONSULAR TREATY! IN FACT, WE MUST HAVE YOUR VOTE!

BY JANUARY, 1967, PRESSURE BY THE ADMINISTRATION WAS MOUNTING ON THE SENATE TO APPROVE THE TREATY!

TODAY, THE ADMINISTRATION IS DETERMINED THAT THE TREATY BE BROUGHT TO A VOTE. SENATORS NEED TO KNOW ALL THE FACTS BEFORE MAKING THEIR DECISION...

AS MY LEGISLATIVE AIDE, WHAT CAN YOU TELL ME ABOUT THIS CONSULAR TREATY?

FIRST OF ALL, SENATOR, THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAYS THE TREATY WILL PROTECT AMERICANS VACATIONING IN RUSSIA AND BUSINESSMEN SELLING TO THE REDS... IF THEY ARE ARRESTED!

THE PROTECTION DOESN'T GUARANTEE A FAIR TRIAL, OR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS, OF COURSE, OR THE REDS WOULDN'T HAVE AGREED TO IT. THE TREATY DOES PROVIDE THAT AMERICAN VACATIONERS OR SALESMEN IMPRISONED IN RUSSIA CAN HAVE VISITING RIGHTS BY OUR CONSULAR OFFICIAL.

VISITING RIGHTS EH? A TREATY OUGHT TO OFFER A LOT MORE THAN THAT. WHAT ARE THE ARGUMENTS AGAINST THE TREATY?

THE MOST OBVIOUS DANGER FROM THE TREATY IS PROVISION FOR "DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY." TREATY OPPONENTS POINT OUT THAT TO GIVE SOVIET PERSONNEL COMPLETE IMMUNITY FROM ARREST IS TO INVITE AN INCREASE IN RED ESPIONAGE... EVEN SABOTAGE... SINCE THE TREATY FORBIDS INSPECTION OF ANY BAGGAGE OR EQUIPMENT BROUGHT IN AS "DIPLOMATIC POUCH."

"BECAUSE OF THE DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY GRANTED UNDER ARTICLE 19 OF THE TREATY, SOVIET AGENTS WOULD BE ABLE TO SMUGGLE INTO OUR CITIES ATOMIC DEMOLITION MUNITIONS (ADAMS) WHICH THEY ARE NOW MAKING..."

"...SUITCASE STEP-A-BOMBS WEIGHING TO LBS OR MORE, AND HIGHLY DESTRUCTIVE, CAN BE SCATTERED THROUGHOUT THE U.S.A.!"

"IN THE EVENT A SOVIET CONSULAR AGENT IS FOUND IN THE ACT OF KIDNAPPING OR OTHER CRIME, WE CAN ORDER HIM OUT OF THE COUNTRY, BUT WE WILL NOT BE ABLE TO GO INTO THE CONSULATES TO RESCUE VICTIMS LIKE KASENKINA OR TO LOOK FOR EVIDENCE..."

WE HAVE A LETTER FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAYING THE TREATY DOESN'T PROVIDE FOR THE OPENING OF ANY NEW CONSULATES. BUT ARTICLE 2 CLEARLY PROVIDES FOR THE OPENING OF CONSULATES.

THEY'RE ALSO SAYING THAT J. EDGAR HOOVER HAS RETRACTED HIS STATEMENT THAT THE CONSULAR TREATY WAS A GOAL OF THE SOVIET INTELLIGENCE. IS THAT TRUE?

I HAVE SENATOR MUNDT'S OFFICE ON THE LINE. THEY HAVE A WRITTEN STATEMENT FROM MR. HOOVER FLATLY STATING THAT HE HADN'T CHANGED HIS MIND AT ALL! AND HE MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE DOESN'T TAKE ANY POSITION ON POLICY!

ONE MORE THING ABOUT THAT "DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY" CLAUSE IN THIS TREATY. WE ALREADY HAVE TREATIES WITH 33 NATIONS... AND NOT ONE OF THEM PROVIDES "IMMUNITY!"

IN OTHER WORDS, THIS IS SOMETHING SPECIAL WE'RE AGREEING TO FOR THE SOVIETS?

HMMM... SHALL I TAKE THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S WORD FOR THIS CONSULAR TREATY AND VOTE FOR IT... OR SHOULD I CONSIDER ALL THE OTHER EVIDENCE AND VOTE AGAINST IT? I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THE FOLKS BACK HOME WANT ME TO DO!

HOW ABOUT IT, FOLKS?

Help YOUR 2 Senators by letting them know how YOU feel about the Soviet Consular Treaty! There isn't much time, so WRITE TODAY! To:

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) — Highway deaths rose again last year in West Germany to a record toll of 16,813, the highest in Europe, the Federal Statistics Office announced. Those injured also reached a

NOW!

Yes, NOW is the time, Mr. Homeowner, for you to start or complete those remodeling or redecorating projects that you have been thinking about all winter.

You can panel that room or basement, install ceiling or floor tile, insulate your attic, tile your bathroom, paint interior walls or do any of the things that make your home a more comfortable and convenient place to live.

Do it NOW when carpenters and painters are in their slack season. So, keep your wife happy and make that call today. You will have more time this summer for golf, fishing or just plain relaxation.

P.S. We sell paneling, ceiling and floor tile, insulation, ceramic tile, paint and/or anything in building supplies.

May Restore Herndon- Lincoln Site

The following communication was sent to the Journal Courier by Robert B. Oxtoby, a Springfield attorney well known in this area.

The long, gray, slumbering Lincoln-Herndon building, wrapped tight in its 127 years of history, exposing scarcely a peep of all that happened within it, will soon be restored to its appearance and use circa 1845. With this restoration a new dimension will have been added to the history of the life and times of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield.

The restoration of this historic old building on the southwest corner of Sixth and Adams will bring a major link to the visible chain of evidence concerning the middle life of Abraham Lincoln.

Until now, tourists and scholars could see the Home, Tomb, and restored Wabash Railroad Station for visual evidence of Lincoln's life and times in Springfield during his late years. The restoration of the Clay Tavern affords a glimpse of those past times. For his early years there is New Salem sitting on its high hill, beautifully restored, where one senses something of the hard-scrabble school that formed young Lincoln. But nothing in Springfield or elsewhere has illustrated those middle years when Lincoln practiced law skillfully, was a United States Representative, and was perfecting the spirit, style, knowledge and judgment that were to carry him on to the American Presidency and the command of the Union armies. The restored Lincoln-Herndon Building will help to heal this lack.

Few Changes
It is a tribute to the former owner, Alvin S. Keys, that almost nothing was done of disturb the exterior architecture of the building. Only the first floor has been extensively changed. From the outside, the second and third floors remain much as they were in 1840. The rough-hewn oak floor, walked by Lincoln, Logan, Herndon on the third floor, is secure under heavy linoleum. On the second floor, the original floor was discovered intact under later, superimposed flooring. The stand-up attic with its unusual trusses and hand-hewn beams remains as it was in 1840 and is very nearly as sound.

The Federal Circuit and District courts occupied the second floor from 1840 to 1855. The third floor housed lawyers including Lincoln, Logan, Herndon, all three of whom were together at one time. When Logan's son joined his father, Lincoln and Herndon formed a new partnership on the same floor. Lincoln practiced law and politics in this building from 1843 to 1852—years of great portent to the United States.

Postoffice In Rear
Most of the first floor was the general store of the owner of the building, S. Y. Tinsley. Tinsley rented twenty feet behind his store to the Federal government to be used as the Federal Post Office from 1840-1849.

It is certain that this building that seems so small today, so modest, was one of the finest buildings in Illinois in the 1840's and housed an important center of the political, legal and judicial life of the state and

DOMESTIC

February, 1867

The employees at Washington have petitioned for an increase in their salaries. Why don't they commence a combined movement to lessen the expenses of living? They would arrive at the same result by so doing.

The Boston keepers of first-rate hotels threaten, if the excise tax is not repealed, to close their establishments. It is hardly a question whether the abolition of the first-class hotels everywhere would not be a gain to the public. It would at least abolish first-class prices, the scale for which seems to ascend as the comforts deteriorate. It would certainly be more agreeable for those who use our hotels if, in their place, the old-fashioned inns could be restored.

The recent investigation of the custom-house frauds in Boston throws a flood of light upon not only the way importers run their business, but also how the custom-house officials manage theirs.

Miss Anna Dickinson, in her address on "Something To Do," an appeal for the enlargement of woman's sphere of action, told an admirable story of a young man who, sharing the current dread of strong-minded woman, asked in a peaceful way, "Would you have all women strong-minded?" "By no means, my friend," was the reply. "Because, then there would be no suitable companions for such as you."

—Frank Leslie's Newspaper

territory of the times.

Tourists come to the Lincoln shrines to feel a sense of the spirit and dignity of this great American. The restored office and courts where he worked and practiced law will offer tourists an additional chance to sense the measure of the man, Lincoln, and his times. Perhaps some will be exalted a little, ennobled a bit by a tiny touch of the history that bridges those long-gone days between Lincoln the lawyer-statesman and them.

Completion of restoration is planned for early summer of 1968, to join with the Sesquicentennial Year celebrations and the completion of the old State Capitol.

Those involved in the restoration of the building are: Mrs. H. B. Barthoff, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Oxtoby.

HUMORS of the day

February, 1867

What is the difference between one who walks up and one who looks up a flight of steps? One steps up-stairs, and the other one stares up steps.

An exchange says lovers, like armies, generally get along well enough until they are engaged. "You had better ask for manners than for money," said a finely-dressed gentleman to a beggar boy, who had asked for alms. "I asked for what I thought you had the most of," was the boy's reply.

If your sister, while engaged with a sweetheart, asks you to bring a glass of water from an adjoining room, start on the errand, but you need not return. You will not be missed. Don't forget this, little boys.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

A Mr. Mahan, of Pike county, was a few days since shot and robbed near the Illinois River, while returning from Naples, where he had received a considerable sum of money for his pork.

The Jerseyville DEMOCRAT announces that, at a church festival at that place a few days since, a colored lady was elected by ballot, the queen of love and beauty.

The Meredosia Steam Ferry, all in good fix and running order, is now offered for sale by John H. Abbott of Naples, owner. This ferry has been in continuous operation for 45 years.

During the past week the mails and trains have been interrupted and delayed by the effects of the freshet. On the line west the water has been over the road in the Illinois river bottoms, greatly injuring the road bed and embankments and stopping the trains. The steam ferry is now plying across the bottom, from Meredosia to the western bluffs.

Apples are now selling in our markets for $7.50 per bbl. From the Carrollton Gazette: Something must be done about that Billy Goat who has taken up headquarters at the southeast corner of the square. Whose goat is he, anyway?

After so much unavoidable delay, our enterprising railroad managers have succeeded in removing obstructions from the track caused by the late thaws and rains, and are now making their regular trips.

Reports from the country indicate that the wheat fields are in fine condition. Unless all signs fail the coming harvest will be an abundant one.

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

The County Court met on Monday of this week, and according to the authority of the bill which passed the legislature, for the vote on the removal of the court house to Virginia, appointed Mr. J. M. Epler as commissioner for the erection of buildings and receiving all monies paid in for that purpose. It is considered a pretty "fat take," the per diem being five dollars, and three per cent commission, according to the provisions of the bill, which further provides that the vote take place on the second Tuesday in April, and that Virginia donate to the county $10,000 for the erection of the necessary public buildings, which will be about enough to pay preliminary expenses, then, of course, the county will have to be taxed $50,000 more to finish the job, as the bill gives unlimited power in that respect, and the lowest estimate yet made has not been under that figure. Bully for the power to tax.

Mistakes! Sorry About That

Just four weeks ago a picture of Harold Nobis of Arenzville was printed in this section, along with some old blanket-sized paper money he owns.

A few days later we received from A. C. Hart, president of the Arenzville National Bank, a mighty nice letter in which he tried to straighten us out on our mistaken notions about the circulation of bank notes.

This prized letter managed to get itself lost, somehow.

This fretted me more than somewhat. On a couple of occasions I considered writing him to inquire whether he had a carbon copy of the note. Real newspaper folks refer to these copies as "dups."

But today, (Thursday A.M.) I came across Hart's fine letter while looking for something else.

So, here it is:

Dear Cecil:
Your narrative in Sunday's Journal of your recent tour of the hinterlands (Virginia-Arenzville-Meredosia) was a gem. The Tendick flowing style was at its best and your frequent reference to items of historic import held attention to the very end. Due to a possible conflict of interest, however, while in Newt's "oasis" here in Arenzville, a few minor errors appeared in your story to which I feel impelled to refer:

1. You state that Herman Engelbach was Cashier of the First National Bank of Arenzville. He was President for many years but never Cashier. Fred Engelbach was Cashier but never President.

2. You mention sheets of "gold certificates" labelled $10, $20, or $100. National Banks of this era issued only "National Currency" and they were NOT redeemable in gold. The First National Bank of Arenzville issued currency in $5, $10 and $20 denominations—never $100.

3. The Ayers National Bank did issue National Currency but never any "Federal Reserve Treasury Notes" as you called the top $10 bill in the picture.

4. You referred to Herman Engelbach as a Republican. This is correct. He was.

If you have an interest in seeing some of the original uncut sheets stop in sometime—but please leave your 6" ruler and straight razor at home. Uncut sheets are hard to come by these days.

Thanks very much, A. C., for your kind words, but right now I'm just as lost about the difference between one kind of paper money—and any other kind—as I was a month ago. In fact, any financial transaction over 75¢ always disturbs me considerably.

Again, many thanks.
Now, I wonder what I was looking for when I stumbled across Hart's letter.

—Cecil Tendick

FOREIGN

February, 1867

The Spanish army is to be reorganized. The entire population is put under conscription. The age at which the natives are subject to conscription is twenty. The time for service is eight years, four in the army on active service and four in the reserve. The order has naturally enough excited great discontent among the people, and why Spain should desire so large a standing army it would seem impossible to imagine.

Mrs. Heinrich Heine, who finds that Levy, the publisher, is making a great deal of money out of the literary remains of her husband, which she sold to him for a mere trifle, is quite discontented thereto. It is said further, that she threatens a suit on account of two volumes of memoirs, which are too full of personal gossip.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Doane

Joyce Troutner, Ronnie Doane Wed In Pittsfield

An early February ceremony at the Perry Methodist church united in marriage Miss Joyce Troutner of Pittsfield and Ronnie Doane of Perry. The Reverend DeZutter officiated.

White glads, red carnations, and palms were used at the candlelight altar. Mrs. Carolyn Elledge was soloist and Mrs. Edna Mae Liehr was at the piano.

The bride is the daughter of the Irvin Troutners of Pittsfield and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Doane of Perry.

The bride wore a peau de soie gown with long train. A jeweled crown held her veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of roses.

Miss Carolyn Troutner was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Crystal Doane, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in street length gowns of red brocade and white peau. Red veils adorned their red brocade headpieces. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

Steve Durbin was best man. Groomsman was Jerry Liehr and ushers were Gary Martin, Mike Orr and Ross Vertrees.

The bride's mother wore an aqua sheath with black accessories. The groom's mother was in copen blue with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

At the reception held at the church Ruth Mowen, Nina Durbin, Mary Lou and Patty Mowen and Connie and Kathy Allen, Sharon Smith and Mary Ann Mowen assisted.

The bride graduated from Pittsfield High School in 1966 and is employed at General Telephone Company. The groom, a 1965 graduate of Perry High School, is employed by Perry Farm Equipment Company.

Joyce Lindsey Of Franklin Is Wed At Durbin

FRANKLIN — Miss Joyce Ann Lindsey and Harry Pallitt exchanged nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday evening, January twenty-eighth, at the Durbin Methodist church near Franklin.

The Reverend Glenn S. Garvin officiated for the service before an altar ornamented with potted white mums, ferns and lighted tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindsey, Franklin route two and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pallitt, Lewistown route two.

Mrs. Doris Robinson sang with Mrs. Carol Carpenter at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white and gold brocade ensemble with a white lace and velvet headpiece. She carried a nosegay of mums.

The bride was attended by Miss Janet Kay Brummitt who wore red velvet and carried a nosegay of white mums. Keith Lehman of Lewistown attended the groom.

Ushers were Matt Pallitt, brother of the groom and Louis Smith, uncle of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a brown and white dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a blue dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room. Assisting were Mrs. Gerald Fuhrman, former classmate of the bride, Janet Brummitt, Mrs. Louis Smith, Mrs. Danny Crow, Beth Smith and Susan Smith, cousins of the bride.

The couple will reside at 510½ North Sixth street in Springfield. The bride graduated from Franklin High School in 1965 and is a staff clerk for Illinois Bell Telephone Company in Springfield. The groom, a 1966 graduate of Lewistown High School, attends Illinois Business College in Springfield.

Audubon Society To Meet Mar. 3

The Morgan County Audubon Society will meet in the lecture room of Crispin Science Hall, Illinois College Friday evening, 7:30, March 3.

Miss Emma Mae Leonhard will show slides which she took last summer on an Audubon Tour through Iceland and Scandinavian countries. She will emphasize Iceland and Norway, including little known islands and bird rocks. The meeting is open to the public.

The Society has reserved a blind near Effingham, Illinois, for the early morning of March 25 to watch the courtship displays of Prairie Chickens. All of those who are planning to take advantage of this unusual bird experience should be at the meeting if possible. Final arrangements will be planned.

Middle-Aged No Longer Mourn Passing Of Youth

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) —There is no freedom like middle-aged freedom. Just a few years ago people used to hate reaching their 40th birthday. They'd even try to hide the fact from themselves and the rest of the world.

They felt that merely being 40 had a sound of senility to it, as if their life had been put on the shelf. They silently mourned the passing of their youth.

Well, sir, today that is an old-fashioned view. People have awakened to the discovery that 40 can be an exit from slavery, a milestone on the path of true human liberty. Far from being a disgrace, it is a condition of dignity and has certain welcome advantages and privileges.

For example: You are too old to have to study algebra but too young yet to have to learn how to fill out a government medicare form. The chairman of the board of your firm decides you are now dry enough behind the ears to be considered as possible executive timber.

You are now getting wise enough not to eat the kind of foods that upset your stomach. On the other hand, if you don't want to accept a dinner invitation, your wife can always phone the hostess and explain, "Sorry, we won't be able to make it. You know Henry's gall bladder—it's been acting up again."

Any company is glad to issue you a credit card, figuring that by now you have reached the age of responsibility.

You can express your views on national and international politics without being regarded as a smart aleck young whipper-snapper.

That touch of gray at your temples makes you look more distinguished, and helps bring out the hidden character lurking behind your baggy eyes.

The pretty girls at the office now think you are "harmless"—and, boy, that's where they make their mistake! There is no devil with the ladies like a middle-aged devil.

Barbers and taxicab drivers no longer try to regale you with risque jokes which were old even when you were in high school. They realize your mind is on grave and important matters.

Your wife now takes it for granted that you love her, and no longer demands that you explain why.

There is no law on earth that can compel you to stay up after midnight—unless you really want to.

All the recurrent and annoying emergencies that used to clutter your life begin to fade. You begin to quit wasting your energy doing unnecessary things.

Convinced at last that you can't refashion the world single-handed, you are at liberty to start harvesting the real glories of this earth with a quiet eye and a more understanding heart.

Yes, there's no freedom like middle-aged freedom. The wonder is that there are still so many people left who don't want to be that free.

Religion In The News

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A dissenting note has turned up in the rising religious concourse between Jews and Christians.

But the friction is not between the faiths. It's within them.

With scholars of the two kindred traditions engaged increasingly in joint theological talks to deepen mutual understanding and share insights, some Jewish clergymen have objected to the new interchange.

It "can only serve to confuse," says Rabbi Zev Segal, of Newark, N.J., an Orthodox Jewish leader. "We are against homogenized religion."

Similar misgivings also have been voiced by others, mainly in Orthodox Judaism, and to some degree, in its Conservative branch. But at the same time, fellow Jews have offered rebuttals, hailing the growth of interfaith dialogue.

It is "imperative today in a world whose vexatious problems are of immediate urgency to Christians and Jews alike," says Dr. Seymour Siegel, of New York's Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Among Christians, both Protestant and Roman Catholic leaders have widely backed the trend, as a means of first-hand learning about one another, of overcoming old misconceptions, and of strengthening a mutual heritage.

Although purposes of conversion are generally rejected by all parties in the new style of inter-religious talks, there is disagreement among Christians over whether they should try in other contexts to convert Jews.

Some prominent Protestant thinkers, such as the Rev. Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, have urged an end to proselytizing among Jews as an affront to Judaism, obscuring the common spiritual-moral roots of both religions.

On the other hand, the Rev. David M. Slove, a missions executive of the National Council of Churches, defended evangelism among Jews, maintaining it does not reflect on Judaism's greatness or its shared Biblical roots with Christianity.

Despite Christian differences and widespread reticence about seeking Jewish converts, that objective is pointedly ruled out in the procedures of the spreading inter-religious conversations.

The oft-stated aim of these is to clarify second-hand ideas about one another with direct discussion, to contribute mutually to one another's insights, and lay foundations for fuller fraternity and work together.

Dr. Sterling W. Brown, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, said the process of "person-to-person communication and reasoned confrontations...have brought about a new era of ecumenical understanding in America."

His statement came in connection with "Brotherhood Week," being observed this week, Feb. 19-26.

Pioneers Shock East Pike, 49-48

MEREDOSIA — The first tournament "bubble" of the season burst here Friday night as Perry stunned East Pike, 49-48 on a 35-foot desperation shot at the buzzer by Jerry Waters to cap the Meredosia District crown.

It was the Panthers' first defeat since early January when Carrollton nipped them by two points in the Winchester tournament. East Pike had run up a string of eight victories in a row since the loss to the Hawks.

Perry, down by as much as ten points in the second half, refused to give up, despite many floor mistakes by both teams in the frantic final minutes. The Panthers had taken command early with a 14-6 first quarter spread, but East Pike came back to trail at intermission by only a point.

The Panthers grabbed the lead early in the third period and did not relinquish it until Waters' game-ending decisive score. A three-point play by Perry's Phil Johnson with just under two minutes left to play brought the count to 48-45, East Pike leading, and the count remained the same for almost a minute as the teams traded turnovers.

Jerry Dougherty notched a bucket for the Panthers with about a minute left to bring Perry within one at 48-47, and again each team made some miscues.

Wildcats Notch District Title 63-61

GIRARD — Palmyra Northwestern held off a rally by Pawnee to take a 63-61 victory here Friday night and claim the District Championship. The win moves the Wildcats into the Springfield Regional against Feitshans.

In a game that was close throughout, the Wildcats hung on to slim leads for the last 14 minutes of the contest but could not shake the Indians' pursuit.

Pawnee last led with a 38-37 advantage early in the third stanza, but the Wildcats regained the edge and went into a control game.

Hot 4th Period Lifts Mustangs Over Brown Co.

MT. STERLING — A red-hot fourth quarter carried Mendon Unity to a come-from-behind 70-56 victory over Brown County here Friday night in a Midwest conference game.

The visiting Mustangs canned seven baskets and missed only four, and hit 13 of 17 free throws in the last period. Danny Schumacher led the Unity surge in the frame with ten points including a perfect 8-for-8 from the charity stripe.

Steve Seigfried, who led the Mustangs with 19 points, contributed nine in the Unity fourth quarter effort. Tom Alsop paced the Hornets with 19, with John Bridgewater adding 16 and Danny Mitchell 15 points.

Unity racked up edges in both shooting and rebounding, as the Mustangs notched a 31-27 advantage off the boards, and posted a 49% shooting effort to the Hornets' 35% mark.

The win boosts the Mustangs' loop mark to 2-3, while the Hornets now sport a 1-4 Midwest mark and a 9-13 overall record.

NEW BERLIN — Mason City's John Conklin sank both ends of a one-and-one with 24 remaining here Friday night to ice a 62-55 win over New Berlin for the visiting Huskies.

Conklin's heroics put down a strong New Berlin surge which had cut the count to 59-55 with over a minute remaining. New Berlin's top scorer for the night, Bob Kaaz, sparked the Pretzels' fruitless spurt with six points in the frame.

Kaaz finished with 24 for the night, followed by Keith Wichterman with 10. Three men hit in double figures for the winners. Conklin led the attack with 21.

JERSEYVILLE — Bethalto grabbed an early lead and never relinquished it here Friday night as the visitors upset the Panthers 70-61, in non-conference action.

Stotler of Bethalto topped all scorers for the evening with 29 points including 21 of 22 from the free throw line.

With 15 seconds remaining, Northwestern had a 62-61 edge, but that was as close as Pawnee could get. Randy Ralston canned the first half of a one-and-one free throw award, the Indians snagged the rebound, but threw the ball away and Northwestern hung on for the final few seconds.

The victory avenged an earlier defeat on the Pawnee floor by a 14-point spread.

Bill Dillon claimed scoring honors for the title tilt with 34 points for Pawnee, and Northwestern had its usual balanced scoring attack. Larry Anderson, Jim Woods, and Ralston combined for 42 points at 15, 14, and 13 respectively and Barry Harvey also made double figures with 11.

Coble And Brown Hit Clutch Buckets

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

Rich Coble hit two clutch buckets and Abe Brown one in the final two minutes to break ties and send Jacksonville to a thrilling, 61-59 come-from-behind Capital Conference victory over Decatur MacArthur, at the JHS Bowl Friday evening.

The victory, which saw the Crimson survive a torrid 62% first half by MacArthur, gives Jacksonville a share of the conference crown with Springfield Griffin and ends JHS' regular season activity.

Jacksonville fell behind by ten points in the second half before Duane Mounts got the Crimson back in the game late in the third period. Robin Manker shot the eventual winners ahead to start the fourth before Mounts, Hess and Coble took the Jacks down to the wire in contention.

Trailing 51-48 with 4:26 left in the game, JHS knotted the points by Mounts. Hess hit both ends of a one-and-one situation, at 3:00 to knot the count at 53-53, and Hess again tied the tilt at 55-55 with 2:12 to play.

MacArthur's leading scorer and rebounder, 6-4 Ralph Rosser, fouled out with 2:12 to play and Coble promptly swished a 15-footer from the top of the key 22 seconds later to give JHS a two-point margin.

Refuse To Fold
Rosser's replacement, Bob Allen, got loose for a knotting bucket with 1:34 left, but Brown hit from the deep corner to boost the hosts back up to a 59-57 lead. Allen again sliced through the JHS defense for a bucket with only 36 seconds to play for a 59-59 tie.

Coble, who hit four of four in the second half and seven of ten in the game, then canned the game-winner from the top of the circle with 27 seconds to play. MacArthur threw the ball away with 13 seconds to go, and Hess was fouled with seven seconds showing. MacArthur got Hess' miss on the first attempt, but a shot by Lynn Lichtenberger from 35 feet just missed at the horn.

Too Much In First Half
MacArthur's smooth-passing, hot-shooting was too much for the Crimson in the first half. Working for the good shots through quick passes, the Generals, who dealt JHS a 50-55 here Friday evening to notch an easy 78-59 win over the hosting Winchester Wildcats.

Behind the scoring of four men in double figures, Pittsfield ran up a 24-14 first stop spread before behind held for a 44-35 halftime advantage. The eventual winners added seven more to their lead in the third period, however, deciding the issue.

Free throw shooting accuracy played a big role in the non-conference action, with Winchester hitting on 19 of 38, while the Suakes connected on a more respectable 20 of 31.

Pittsfield's Don Jenkins highlighted the scoring with a 27 point night, while Bob Moore supplied the fire-works for Winchester with 23.

Flashes Breeze To Easy 69-47 Win Over Tigers
FRANKLIN — Franklin controlled the boards and the shooting and raced to an easy 69-47 season-ending victory over Greenfield, here Friday evening.

The Flashes, who will bring a lofty 18-5 record into next week's Regional, led 17-5 and 38-17 at the first breaks and coasted in from there.

Franklin, led by Darryl Smith's 18 points, held a 41-25 board advantage and a 47% 35% shooting clip. The Flashes also hit 83% from the foul line to Greenfield's 48% rate.

Greenfield ended the regular campaign with a 4-15 slate.
